OVER THE EDITOR'S DESK

Over 270 persons from Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas made our August seminar, Ancestral Routes to Tennessee...And Beyond, a huge success. Of special interest were the round table sessions where resource leaders from various Tennessee counties discussed information available in their counties and offered assistance with family research; "cousins" discovered each other, and many valuable contacts were made.

The Tennessee Ancestry Certificate program was begun as a TENNESSEE HOMECOMING '86 project. However, due to interest shown, it will be continued. A recent letter had these comments: "I like your plan. Do you realize how many millions are eligible? Will it be continuous? Or will it be a Billion?" We have mailed over 1,100 applications for certificates.

This is our third issue in 1986 and time to remind you to renew The Tennessee Genealogical Magazine, "Ansearchin'" News for 1987; why not send your $15.00 now! A subscription form is enclosed for your convenience. Due to the time required to compile and type the Surname Index, the fourth issue, Winter 1986, will not be mailed until after Christmas. We regret the delay, but The Tennessee Genealogical Society is operated and staffed by dedicated, hard-working volunteers who also have other obligations during the holiday season.

We have received a letter from Judy Castle Stubbs which will be of interest to members of the Colville family. At a recent garage sale she purchased a large family Bible, published in 1833, which "contains a great deal of information about the Colville family of McMinnville, TN." Mrs. Stubbs will make the Bible available to a family member or descendant for reimbursement of her purchase price. Her address is 115 Mockingbird Road, Nashville, TN 37205.

Wallace researchers and descendants may be listed in a "directory" being compiled by Ruth Petracek. Her proposed book will list the researcher's name, address, phone number, descent chart, a 100 word query or other data. Material is requested by 30 Sept 1986. For details contact Mrs. Petracek, 935 River Lane, Santa Ana, CA 92706, phone 714-541-6436.

The Saline County [IL] Genealogical Society is a new source for persons researching Saline County and the parent counties of Southern Illinois. Shawnee is their quarterly (see page 132 for review); the address is P.O. Box 4, Harrisburg, IL 62946.

NECROLOGY

Long-standing friends of The Tennessee Genealogical Society will be saddened to learn of the death of Augusta Hooper Brough on 13 July 1986 in New Orleans, LA. She had recently moved there to be near her daughter, Allen MacLean. Augusta had been a member of the society since 1965 and had served in many capacities including Vice-President in 1972 and Editor of "Ansearchin'" News in 1973. Services were held in St. Philip Episcopal Church, Daviesshire, where Augusta was a charter member. Burial was in Forest Hill Cemetery, Memphis, TN.

FRANCIS ASBURY'S TRAVELS in TENNESSEE

By Betsy Foster West

Bishop Francis Asbury, 1745-1816, has been credited with establishing the Methodist Church in America, not only by spreading its version of the gospel of Christ, but by organizing its representative preachers and leaders into an episcopal form of church government. He accomplished this monumental feat by constantly traveling among his flock, keeping them in touch with himself and with each other.

He came to America from England in 1771, a twenty-six year old protege' of John Wesley, and found most of his elder brethren clinging to the eastern cities on their missions, possibly because travel in colonial America was slow and uncomfortable, and dangerous if one ventured into the hinterlands. As he traveled, Asbury kept a journal, recording the places he preached and the people he contacted. Before he died in 1816, he had envisioned his records as a history of American Methodism and had enlisted the help of other editors.

Asbury's journal and letters passed through many hands before they were combined, annotated and edited in 1958 into The Journal and Letters of Francis Asbury, three volumes published by Epworth Press of London, England, and Abingdon Press of Nashville, TN. Elmer T. Clark was Editor-in-Chief, assisted by J. Manning Potts and Jacob S. Payton. There were fifteen Regional Research Editors who are authors, historians and educators of renown. They have contributed details of information, each in his own region.

From these volumes, the Tennessee-related material has been extracted. Passages printed in italics are direct quotes from Bishop Asbury's journal as printed in the 1958 edition. Comments on the text are taken largely from information in the footnotes, with the addition of information obtained from Eastin Morris' Tennessee Gazetteer, 1834 and Matthew Rhea's 1832 map of Tennessee.

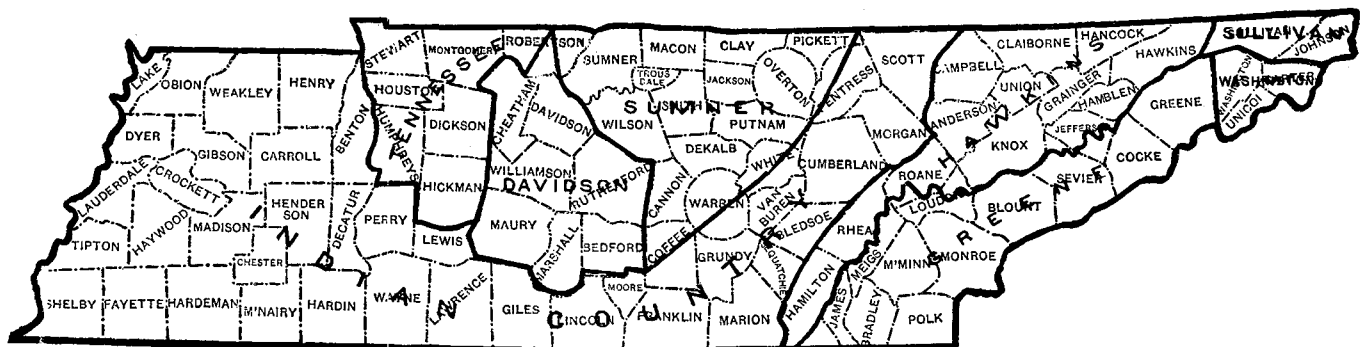

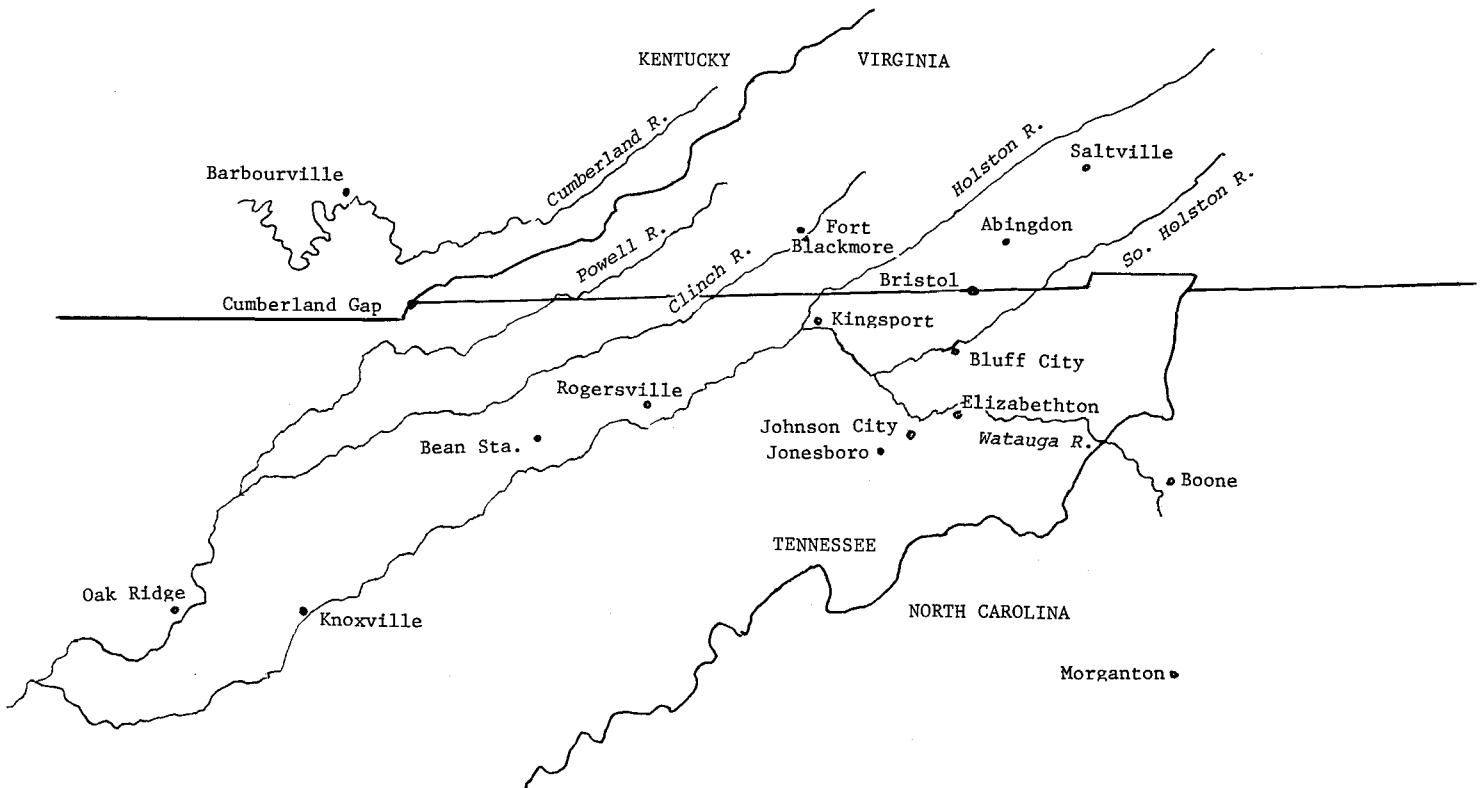

Francis Asbury landed in Philadelphia 27 Oct 1771. From there he was sent to New York and its environs. For the next nine years he traveled through New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia (including West Virginia). In June 1780 he went to North Carolina for the first time. It was another eight years before he crossed the mountains into the area that was to become Tennessee.

THE JOURNAL AND LETTERS OF FRANCIS ASBURY, VOLUME I

28 Apr 1788 - Leaving the St. John's river area of Burke Co NC near Morganton, Asbury and a companion "after getting our horses shod, made a move for Holston and entered upon the mountains; the first of which I called steel, the second stone, and the third iron mountain; they are rough, and difficult to climb. We were spoken to on our way by most awful thunder and lightning, accompanied by heavy rain. We crept for shelter into a little dirty house, where the filth might have been taken from the floor with a spade. We felt the want of fire, but could get little wood to make it, and what we gathered was wet. At the head of Watauga we fed, and reached Ward's that night. Coming to the river next day, we hired a young man to swim over for the canoe, in which we crossed, while our horses swam to the other shore. The waters being up we were compelled to travel an old road over the mountains. Night came on - I was ready to faint with a violent headache - the mountain was steep on both sides. I prayed to the Lord for help. Presently a profuse sweat broke out upon me, and my fever entirely subsided. About nine o'clock we came to Andrew Greer's."

Asbury's destination was the Holston Circuit - originally a group of churches scattered among the mountains of Greene, Washington, Carter, Johnson, Sullivan and Hawkins counties in Tennessee. Churches in the area from Russell County,

Tennessee ca 1788 overlaid on present day counties

Virginia south and westward were also included. In order to reach this area Asbury rode trails which followed approximately the routes of present day NC 181 from Morganton, NC northwest to Elk Park, and US 19E northwest to Elizabethtown.

Some of the churches on the Holston Circuit had been organized prior to 1783 when Jeremiah Lambert was appointed by the General Conference of the Methodist Church as their preacher. When Asbury made this trip, the 60 churches had been divided into the Holston and the Nollichucky circuits. Andrew Greer was an Indian trader who probably was in East Tennessee by 1770. He lived across the Watauga River from present Elizabethtown.

30 Apr 1788 - "After taking a little rest here, we set out next morning for brother Edward Cox's on Holston River."

Cox lived about 1 mile northeast of Bluff City, TN in a log house which was still standing in 1958. Asbury had known the Cox family in Maryland. Edward, born in Baltimore Co. MD in 1750, was converted by Asbury in 1773. Soon afterward he went to the Holston country & settled in present Sullivan Co. TN on the north side of South Fork of Holston River. In 1775 he returned to Maryland to marry Sallie Meredith and brought her to his East Tennessee home. Cox served in the Rev. War and died in 1852, age 102. Asbury continued his journey along present day 19E to Bluff City.

"I had trouble enough. Our route lay through the woods, and my pack-horse would neither follow, lead, nor drive, so fond was he of stopping to feed on the green herbage. I tried the lead, and he pulled back. I tied his head up to prevent his grazing, and he ran back. The weather was excessively warm. I was much fatigued, and my temper not a little tried. I fed at I. Smith's, and prayed with the family. Arriving at the river, I was at a loss what to do; but providentially a man came along who conducted me across. This has been an awful journey to me, and this a tiresome day, and now, after riding seventy-five miles, I have thirty-five miles more to General Russell's. I rest one day to revive man and beast."

Footnotes in the 1958 edition say that I. Smith whom Asbury mentioned may have been Isaac Smith, who has been recorded as a host to early travelers. But the name in the journal could also have been J. Smith, Jonas Smith, who lived "south of Walker's Mtn. on Little Holston R."

2 May 1788 - "Rode to Washington, where I met brother Tunnell on the way to Mr. Cox's. We have to put up in houses where we have no opportunity for retirement."

Washington is now Abington, VA, the seat of Washington Co., and "brother Tunnell" was John Tunnell (1755-90), Presiding Elder of the Holston District. He was born in Fredricksburg, VA and had brothers William (a Baptist preacher) and Stephen who came to Tennessee.

3 May 1788 - "We came to General Russel's, a most kind family in deed and truth."

Gen. William Russell, an officer in Colonial & Revolutionary armies, in 1783 married Mrs. Elizabeth Henry Campbell, sister of Patrick Henry and widow of Gen. William Campbell. The Russells lived in Saltville, Smyth Co. VA, and were prominent pioneer Methodists.

6 May 1788 - "I had many to hear at Easley's on Holston. I was much wearied with riding a strange horse, having left mine to rest. It is some grief that I cannot be so much in prayer on the road as I would be. We had a good time, and a large congregation at Keywood's."

Asbury did not account for his journey from Saltville, VA to Sullivan Co, TN where Stephen Easley lived on Horse Creek, south of present day Kingsport. He probably used the Great Road which traversed the Shenandoah Valley from Hagerstown,

MD to Cumberland Gap. Two early Tennessee sources supplement the record. Matthew Rhea's 1832 map shows a road from east of Abingdon, VA to Kingsport, approximately along the route of present day US 11 & 19, and Eastin Morris' TENNESSEE GAZETTEER of 1834 reports Kingsport as having about 50 families and a Methodist Church.

Asbury probably traveled the road which became that highway and preached to the people who became that church. Then, he returned to Stephen Keywood's house between Saltville and Glade Spring, VA before turning south into Tennessee. His journal continues under the same entry dated Tuesday, 6 May 1788.

"The people are in disorder about the old and the new State; two or three men, it is said, have been killed. At Nelson's I had a less audience than was expected; the people having been called away on an expedition against the new State men."

A footnote in The Journal and Letters of Francis Asbury states that the disorder was a conflict between John Sevier, Governor of the State of Franklin and Col. Tipton who represented the State of North Carolina. "The Rev. Thomas Ware on the Nollichucky Circuit was seized by Sevier's men, who threatened to hang him, but he escaped on his horse while the men were disputing his fate." The footnote also states that the Holston Country was in the Watauga Assn. from 1769 to 1777, in the State of NC from 1777 to 1784, the State of Franklin from 1788 to 1790, the Territory south of the Ohio 1790 - 1796, and in Tennessee since statehood.

The "Nelson" referred to above was William Nelson who lived between Jonesborough and present day Johnson City. A historical marker on the site says that Asbury preached here in May 1788.

Asbury continues, still under the entry date 6 May 1788.

"Rode to Owen's, and met our brethren from Kentucky..."

There is a road on the Rhea map leading from Jonesborough northwest to Kingsport and then due north to a town marked Estilleville, VA; from Estilleville there are three roads fanning north to west toward the Clinch River. John Owen lived south of the river nearly opposite present day Fort Blackmore, VA. An old church in that area is named Owen's Chapel.

From this southwest corner of VA, Asbury traveled eastward across VA & NC and in the fall of 1788 he was preaching on the Atlantic coast and in New York. He did not return to TN until April of 1790. By this time he was joined by Richard Whatcoat, a minister ordained & sent to America by John Wesley. In 1800 Whatcoat was consecrated a bishop. During his travels, Whatcoat also kept a journal which has been used to compare and supplement Asbury's in this edition of 1958.

5 April 1790 - "We made an early move. After worming the stream for a while, we took through the Laurel Hill, and had to scale the mountains, which in some places were rising like the roof of a house. We came to the head of Watauga River; a most neglected place. Here the people have had their corn destroyed by frost, and many of them have moved away. It was thus we found it in Tyger's Valley. We passed by W___'s, a poor lodging, and slept at the Beaver Dam in a cabin without a cover, except what a few boards supplied: we had very heavy thunder and lightning, and most hideous yelling of wolves around, which is frequent in the mountains."

The Travelers had held a quarterly conference in Western North Carolina at the home of William White on John's River. From there they rode the same route Asbury had traveled in April and May of 1788.

6 April 1790 - "We were compelled to ride through the rain, and crossed the Stone Mountain: Those who wish to know how rough it is may tread in our path. What made it worse to me was, that while I was looking to see what was become of our guide, I was carried off with full force against a tree that hung across the road some distance from the ground, and so my head received a very great jar, which however was lessened by my having on a hat that was strong in the crown. We came on to the dismal place called Roan's Creek, which was pretty full. Here we took a good breakfast on our tea, bacon and bread. Reaching Watauga, we had to swim our horses, and ourselves to cross in a canoe; up the Iron Mountain we ascended, where we had many a seat to rest, and many a weary step to climb. At length we came to Andrew Greer's, and halted for the night."

7 April 1790 - "We reached William Nelson's Chapel about one o'clock, after riding about eighteen miles. Now it is that we must prepare for danger, in going through the wilderness. I received a faithful letter from brother Poythress in Kentucky, encouraging me to come. This letter I think well deserving of publication. I found the poor preachers indifferently clad, with emancipated [sic] bodies, and subject to hard fare; yet I hope they are rich in faith."

Although the distance from Greer's to Nelson's houses was only eight miles, it probably felt like eighteen to Asbury and his party. Thomas Anderson, Presiding Elder in eastern North Carolina, had joined Asbury, Whatcoat and perhaps other unnamed travelers. They were preparing to ride the Wilderness Road into Kentucky over which pioneers were pouring into the new lands. The Indians were violently resisting this progress.

9 April 1790 - "After receiving great kindness from dear sister Nelson, we came on to brother Bell's, who wrought for us, gratis, what we wanted in shoeing our horses. Thence we went on to brother Gott's and to brother P___'s; and thence, groping through the woods to brother Easley's; depending on the fidelity of the Kentucky people...We crossed Holston at Smith's ferry, and rode thirty miles to Amis's, where we were well entertained for our money. Coming along, I complained that the people would take no pay for their food or services; that complaint has ceased. Very unwell as I was we pushed down Holston to the last house; here we had no hope of company from the eastern or western side. We turned out our horses to graze, and they strayed off; so we are here anchored indeed."

After spending the night at Easley's southeast of Kingsport, the Asbury party turned north to Smith's Ferry on the North Fork of Holston River, near Moccasin Gap in Virginia, but not far from the Tennessee line. From there they rode south, down the Holston Valley, to present day Rogersville. Thomas Amis kept a tavern three miles west of the town; his stone house still (1958) stands.

"We are now in a house in which a man was killed by the savages, and O, poor creatures! they are but one remove from savages themselves. I consider myself in danger; but my God will keep me whilst thousands pray for me."

11 April 1790 - "My soul is humbled before God, waiting to see the solution of this dark providence. The man of the house is gone after some horses supposed to be stolen by Indians...If these difficulties, which appear to impede my path, are designed to prevent my going to Kentucky, I hope to know shortly. I spent the Sabbath at Robert Bean's. In the evening a company of eleven came to go forward. Our horses were not to be found without a great sum."

Robert Bean, the son of William Bean, the first white settler of Tennessee, established Bean's Station at the forks of Cumberland & Kentucky roads in Hawkins County's Grassy Valley. William Bean's Station was on the Wilderness Road near Tate's Springs; the site is now beneath Cherokee Lake.

12 April 1790 - "We loaded brother Thomas Anderson's little horse with my great bags, and two pair smaller; four saddles, with blankets and provender. We then set out and walked ten miles, and our horses were brought to us, and those who brought them were pleased to take what we were pleased to give. Brother Jeremiah Able sought the Lord by fasting and prayer, and had a strong impression that it was the will of God that I should not go on with that company."

Jeremiah Able was a preacher on the West New River (Virginia and North Carolina) Circuit with Joseph Doddridge.

13 April 1790 - "We came back to Amis's - a poor sinner. He was highly offended that we prayed so loud in his house. He is a distiller of whiskey, and boasts of gaining £ 300 per annum by the brewing of his poison. We talked very plainly; and I told him that it was of necessity, and not of choice, that we were there; that I feared the face of no man. He said he did not desire me to trouble myself about his soul. Perhaps the greatest offence was given by my speaking against distilling and slave holding.

Having been upon expenses from Friday to this day, for four horses and three men, I judged it high time to move."

From this point Asbury and his party rode into southwest Virginia; Whatcoat says that they reached James Carr's at Beaver Creek, Washington Co, VA about ten o'clock in the evening of April 15, having traveled 50 miles. The next day they "walked" to John Owen's on the Clinch River. They must have returned to the Saltville area, preaching at every opportunity for the next week. Asbury mentions services at Gen. Russell's, Keywood's, Halfacre's and McHenry's. On the 26th, the party once more reached the Clinch River.

28 April 1790 - "We rode down to Joseph Blackmore's station; here the people have been fortified on the north side of Clinch. Poor Blackmore has had a son and daughter killed by the Indians. They are of the opinion here that the Cherokees were the authors of this mischief; I also received an account of two families having been killed, and of one female that was taken prisoner, and afterwards retaken by the neighbors and brought back.

30 April 1790 - Crossed Clinch about two miles below the fort. In passing along, I saw the precipice from which Blackmore's unhappy son leaped into the river after receiving the stroke of a tomahawk in his head. I suppose by the measure of my eye, it must be between fifty & sixty feet descent; his companion was shot dead upon the spot; this happened on the 6th of April 1789. We came a dreary road over rocks, ridges, hills, stones and streams along a blind tortuous path to Moccasin Gap & Creek, thence to Smith's Ferry across the north branch of Holston."

They had turned back east and were in the rugged hills of Natural Tunnel. Whatcoat says Stephen Easley and Thos Rubey met them at Moccasin Gap and escorted them back to Easley's.

On 3 May 1790 Asbury recorded that he "preached at brother Payne's and had some encouragement among our Maryland people." The editors of the Journal indicate that Payne lived in Tennessee, but no other information is given. While they were there, Asbury told Whatcoat that he dreamed "the guard from Kentucky came for me." The next day he saw two men come over the hills. "I felt a presumption that they were Kentucky men, and so they proved to be; they were Peter Massie and John Clark, who were coming for me with the intelligence that they had left eight men below..." Peter Massie was the first Kentuckian to become an itinerant preacher. He was riding the Limestone Circuit when he died 18 Dec 1791 at the home of a Mr. Hodges four miles west of Nashville, TN. The eight men included Hope Hull and John Sewell.

Asbury read the letters brought by Massie & Clark and agreed to go with them to Kentucky.

4 May 1790 - "We prepared ourselves and horses for our journey, and the next came once more to Amis's.

6 May 1790 - Came to Joseph Crabbe's at the lower end of the Grassy Valley, and were occupied in collecting our company.

7 May 1790 - We formed the whole of our company at the Valley station; besides brother Whatcoat and myself, we were sixteen men, having thirteen guns only. We moved on very swiftly, considering the roughness of the way, traveling, by my computation, thirty-five miles today."

The Valley station was located in Lee Co. VA, five miles from Wallen's Ridge and two miles from Powell River, probably near present day Jonesville. The party used the Wilderness Road and reached New Station near Cumberland Gap on the night of 7 May. They spent the night at Joseph Lewis', according to Whatcoat.

"Next day (8 May) we reached Rich Land Creek and encamped on the road about nine o'clock at night, having made by computation, forty-five miles."

The party traveled over a narrow Indian trail into present day Knox Co. KY and camped near Barbourville. The journals kept by Asbury and Whatcoat plat their course along these present day landmarks.

On May 9 they rode about fifty miles to Hazel Patch, north of London in Laurel Co and passed Rock Castle 4 miles south of Livingston; on 10 May they rode to Wm Maguyer's near Richmond, KY; on 11 May they crossed Kentucky River and rode to Henry Reynolds' where they held a service for the first time; on 13 May the Kentucky conference was held at Lexington.

As the party crossed the treacherous mountain terrain, Asbury made note of the trials and fatigue of travel in 1790. "I was strangely outdone for want of sleep having been greatly deprived of it in my journey through the wilderness...I slept about an hour the first night, and about two the last; we ate no regular meal; our bread grew short, and I was much spent." He commented on the natural wonder of Rock Castle, and described the journey as "like being at sea, in some respects, and in others worse. Our way is over mountains, steep hills, deep rivers, and muddy creeks; a thick growth of reeds for miles together; and no inhabitants but wild beasts and savage men." But, in spite of the physical hardship, Asbury was more concerned for the people he encountered. He said "We stayed at McGuire's, whose wife, now a tender, gracious soul, was taken prisoner by the Indians during the last war and carried to Detroit." He says, "I saw the graves of the slain - twenty-four in one camp..." and recorded what he had been told of the raid. The editors of the 1958 edition explain in a footnote:

"Evidently the graves of the victims of what is known as "McNitt's Defeat," which occurred the night of Oct 3, 1786. Twenty-four persons were killed and scalped, and five women carried away. The leaders of the party were members of the McNitt, Ford and Barnes families from Botetourt and Rockbridge Counties in Virginia... the graves are still preserved in the Levi Jackson State Park, near London, Kentucky ...it is one of the largest massacres of a single group during the period from 1785 to 1794, when the Chicamaugas were doing most of the marauding."

In the course of the conference held in Lexington, Bishop Asbury ordained Wilson Lee, Thomas Williamson, and Barnabas M'Henry as elders. He speaks of people he met at various services, some of whom he had known in the East. He finished this series of services at Crab Orchard in Lincoln County.

4 May 1790 - "We set out on our return through the wilderness with a large and helpless company; we had about fifty people, twenty of whom were armed, and five of whom might have stood fire. To preserve order and harmony, we had articles drawn up for, and signed by, our company...the first night we lodged some miles behind the Hazel Patch. The next day we discovered signs of Indians, and some thought they heard voices; we therefore thought it best to travel on and did not encamp until three o'clock, halting on the east side of Cumberland River. We had gnats enough... at the foot of the mountain the company separated; the greater part went on with me to Powell's River; here we slept on the earth, and next day made the Grassy Valley."

27 May 1790 - By riding late we reached Capt. Amis's where I had a bed to rest on."

From this point, Asbury and Whatcoat went to Gen. Russell's in Virginia.

They rested there a day, holding services in which two local preachers, James Riggins & Benjamin Van Pelt, were ordained deacons. Benjamin, a brother of Peter Van Pelt of Staten Island, NY, came to Tennessee in 1780 and built one of the first meeting houses on Lick Creek in Greene County.

Leaving Virginia, Asbury & Whatcoat rode across the Blue Ridge Mountains to the New River area and south through Flower Gap (now Low Gap) North Carolina. Asbury spent the last half of 1790 and all of 1791 traveling up & down the Atlantic coast from New York to Georgia, and it was 29 Mar 1792 before he again crossed the border of Tennessee.

INDEX TO LINCOLN COUNTY, TENNESSEE COUNTY COURT MINUTES, 1830 - 1833

Contributed by Jean Ridgway Bigger, CGRS

1002 Bragg Circle, Tullahoma, TN 37388

Transcribed from Tennessee State Library and Archives Microfilm

Marie Sterken and Sue Rossman copied each name every time it was in the 1830 - 1833 Lincoln County Minute Book; Ethel Miner indexed all the names with a computer. Usual problems were found in working with the old court records, and caution must be used about interpreting any given name; if there are questions concerning index names, the microfilm should be reviewed. Microfilm and a WPA transcript of the minute book are in Nashville at the Tennessee State Library and Archives. The original minute book is in the court house at Fayetteville. A computer printout of indexed names is in Tullahoma. The date a name was recorded can be estimated from the minute book page numbers. Pages 1 - 126 incorporate 19 April 1830 through 16 January 1831; pages 127 - 271 cover 17 January 1831 to 15 January 1832; pages 272 - 470 encompass 16 January 1832 through 21 January 1833; and pages 471 - 610 list 22 January 1833 to 30 October 1833. The index includes over 5,500 names, many with multiple entries. Data for this article were typed from a computer printout, and transcription errors are possible.

[Ed. Note: Lincoln County is in Middle Tennessee and borders Alabama. Created by the legislature from Bedford County in 1809, its 1810 population was 6,104 and totaled 22,075 in 1830. There were migration paths through the county to the south and west.]

PETITIONS TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF TENNESSEE
 Roll No. 3, Legislative Petitions 1805-1812

13-1-1809    Petition of Thomas HENDERSON of Guilford (now Rockingham) County, North Carolina by John HAYWOOD, his attorney. Henderson states that he entered and paid for 5000 acres (No. 404) in the land office of East Tennessee "and that there appears on the back of said Warrant to be an endorsement...transferring said Warrant to Stokley DONALDSON... and that two Grants had issued upon the said Warrant, one to Stokley Donaldson No. 1356, and another to George JAMES No. 203 - and it also appears by the annexed affidavit of William HILL that the said Indorsement is a forgery..." Henderson requests another warrant for 5000 acres - 16 Oct 1809. The next document on the film is a copy of an order from John ARMSTRONG, Entry Officer, to the surveyor to lay off for Henderson "5000 acres lying on the East side of the Mississippi and the South side of Woolf river Including Colberts Station upon on said river about the Center of the land" - 6 Apr 1787. Below this order is an assignment of the above warrant to Stockley Donelson signed by Thomas Henderson - 29 July 1795.

On 27 Apr 1809 Wm HILL of Raleigh, NC appeared before Wm PEACE, a J P for Wake County, NC and swore that the above assignment "is not in the hand writing of Thomas Henderson..." Then follows copies by Will WHITE, Sec., from the original records in North Carolina signed Richd Dobbs SPEIGHT of the grants to Donelson and James. To Donelson 5000 acres in Greene County on the north side of Noly Chucky river bounded by lands of Thomas REES/RUSS, Donelson and Gordon, Phillip HAIL, George LEEPER, Warren, Leonard SIMON - 27 Aug 1795. "...unto George James sixty thousand acres of land in our Eastern District, in a Great Bend of the Tennessee River opposite the mouth of the Holston" - 30 Oct 1794. (9 pages)

14-1-1809    Petition of Andw M. LUSK/LUCK for clarification of laws passed at the last session of the legislature concerning titles and land entries made in Washington and Sullivan counties. 12 Oct 1809 (4 pages)

15-1-1809    Petition of John BULLARD. On 19 Sept 1799 Joseph BEARD conveyed to Bullard 340 acres granted by North Carolina on 5 May 1794, however, when it was surveyed, the tract was found to contain only 40 acres. JESSE AND DAVID CAIN - Submitted by Wayne R. Cain, 201 Wayne, Haysville, KS 67060

Jesse CAIN, an early settler in what is now Middle Tennessee, was born about 1748 in a cabin located on the west side of the North Branch of the Shanandoah River in the mountain gap which is presently western Rockingham Co VA. His parents, Nicholas and Catherine, had come to this area about three years earlier and settled in a new outpost community of Dutch and German immigrants from Pennsylvania. Jesse's brothers were James, Edmund, John, Daniel, Cornelius and David. He had at least two sisters, Ann and Margaret who married John SHAW. The Indians did not live in this area but used it for hunting. When the hunting parties turned to war parties, several Cain neighbors were killed, and Nicholas moved his large family away from the frontier to what is now Albermarle Co VA in the winter of 1755-56.

When Jesse was about twenty-one, he left the family farm and with his brother, Cornelius, journeyed to the new frontier of Southwest Virginia. In the Spring of 1771 he settled near John FREGOR and Francis FUGATE on Big Moccasin Creek, a Holston River tributary of the North Branch in what is now Washington Co VA. Another near settler was David EDWARDS, who became Jesse's father-in-law when he married David's oldest daughter, Elizabeth. Jesse's brothers were nearby: John and Daniel in Harrison Co VA on a Kanawha River branch; David on the head waters of the Holston; Cornelius on Little River; James and Edmund were with the CLOYDS and PRICES on New River and on the Greenbrier. By Dec 1774 Jesse's seventy-five acres were surveyed into the new County of Fincastle Co VA. Jesse was named executor of David Edward's will, 1778.

The settlers constantly heard of a new land west beyond the mountains. Jesse Cain, with his brothers-in-law, the Edwards, moved to Middle Tennessee where in the spring of 1784 they were on Sulphur Creek, a branch of the Red River northeast of what is now Nashville, TN. In 1787 when he delivered some farm products to a merchant on the Cumberland, Jesse asked for payment in North Carolina currency or gold. He was offered payment in the new coin of the State of Franklin which he refused. The Grand Jury brought an indictment against him and disallowed his claim. In May 1789 Jesse received Land Grant #59 from the State of North Carolina for 100 acres on the north side of Sulphur Creek, and in 1790 he was appointed a Captain in the Tennessee Militia. Jesse's will of Aug 1795 recorded in Will Book 1, p. 4, Robertson Co TN names his wife, Elizabeth, several daughters and three sons: John, James and Jesse Jr.

David Cain, the youngest son of Nicholas and Catherine, was born c1758 in Louisa Co VA. In 1761 the county line was moved several miles east which placed the Cain's farm in Albermarle Co VA. David is on the Washington Co VA tax list for 1780 and 1782 living on Moccassin Creek where his 100 acres was surveyed Jan 1783. David decided to take his family and cross over the mountains sometime before 1799 where he settled on the Powell River on land in the Henderson Tract where some of his descendants are still living. Prior to his death, David transferred property in Union Co TN to some of his children in 1828. He had at least three sons: Jesse, who was born 1781 Washington Co VA, died after 1851 Claiborne Co TN and married Sarah OSBORNE; James, born 1805 Claiborne Co TN; and David.

GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH DIRECTORY - NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL AND GUIDE TO GENEALOGICAL SOCIETIES by Keith A. Johnson and Malcolm R. Sainty. 1986. 8x5½. 784 pp. Soft cover $17.75, hard cover $22.25. Order from Mrs. Netti Schreiner-Yantis, 6818 Lois Drive, Springfield, VA 22150.

This directory consists of two major portions, an extensive alpha-by-surname listing of names being researched and a numbered list of those contributing these names. Each entry in the first part includes suburb, town, or county; time period; province or state; and country or land. The second part comprises names and addresses of contributor-researchers. For quick reference, the latter is marked with contrasting page margins. The use guide and abbreviation sections are similarly marked. Locales included in the entries are Austria, Australia, Canada, England, France, Germany, Ireland, Scotland, Switzerland, the United States, and Wales. Particularly interesting to researchers of German locales is the lead article, "When you Travel to Germany." There is a section devoted to listing of major societies throughout the various countries. These societies are described in detail with area of interest often included along with cost of membership, library hours, etc. The compilers have announced plans to publish an annual directory containing only new or updated entries. To professional and amateur alike this is a significant publication. MJB

BIRTHS, DEATHS AND MARRIAGES EXTRACTED FROM THE SEQUACHEE VALLEY NEWS 1891-1910 compiled by Mary S. Harris and Euline Harris. 1985. 8½x11. 302 pp. Indexed. Hard cover $29.00, soft cover $27.00. Order from Mrs. Robert W. Harris, Rt. 2, Box 192, Clinton, TN 37716.

This is a compilation of births, deaths, marriages and other items of historical or genealogical interest. The articles are presented verbatim from the newspaper. One page is devoted to a brief history of the Harris family in England and the United States. An article on the death of Captain John Frater, a pioneer in Sequachee Valley, gives family history in England and America. Because a fire destroyed many of the Marion County, Tennessee records, few are published. Consequently this book most likely will receive a hearty welcome from genealogists researching that area. 1840 FEDERAL CENSUS OF WARREN COUNTY, TENNESSEE transcribed by Betty Anderson Bridgewater. 1985. Paper, loose leaf. 8x11. 52 pp. Indexed. $6.00. Order from Kathleen Hasson, 310 Parkview Dr., McMinnville, TN 37110. Make check payable to Eliza Lyon Chapter, Questers.

Here are forty-four pages filled with concise and accurate history. Three early Warren County documents are included along with the 1840 federal census records. There is an 1806 petition, with all names listed, from over three hundred early citizens of Smith County asking to be separated into a new (Warren) county. There is a second petition of the same date pertaining to the same area and subject but with sixty additional names. The third document is the 1812 Warren County tax list. These carefully transcribed records are a worthy contribution to Tennessee's 1986 "Homecoming Celebration," and The Questers of Warren County deserve a round of applause for their efforts. SHM

A BOOK ABOUT MANCHESTER UNTIL 1905 compiled and edited by Betty Anderson Bridgewater. 1985. Soft cover. 8½x11. 120 pp. Indexed. $7.00. Order from Coffee County Historical Society, Inc., P.O. Box 524, Manchester, TN 37355-524.

This publication comprises Volume XVI, Numbers 3-4 of the Coffee County Historical Quarterly, 1985. In her opening remarks, the editor points out some conflicting dates in previously published material with reference to the founding of Manchester, Tennessee. She offers a new date for that event and with it her proof. This sets the tone for accuracy in this history of her home town in Coffee County. Although statistics are abundant throughout the volume, it is an account of individuals who established and built the town. It is well documented and, in its focus, personal. The story of the development of the town's various institutions and businesses is drawn from personal accounts in letters, newspaper articles, family histories, and court records. An excellent index includes "all pertinent proper names as well as place names and business titles." Residents of the area will treasure this book as will, indeed, many other readers who call Tennessee "home." SHM

THERE'S NO WONDER WE ACT THE WAY WE DO by Marie Evans Davis. 1985. Hard cover. 8½x11. 353 pp. Indexed. $40.00. Order from Fort Davis, 113 Glendale Ave., Greenville, AL 36037.

The first of the book's two parts begins with the author's parents and traces all lines to the earliest known ancestor. The second part is similarly constructed beginning with her husband's parents. In addition to the many photographs included here are photocopies of numerous and varied records. "I am not a professional writer, but I have enjoyed putting the histories of my various families and those of my husband's families on paper," Mrs. Davis writes. She then invites corrections and additional information for a planned volume II of the same title. Some of the allied families are Adkinson, Atkins, Booker, Bourland, Fort, Champion, Carnes, Giddeon, Glenn, Gorman, Hart, Hinson, Hudspeth, Inskip, Johnson, Sandusky, Silvers, Jordan, Lancaster, Landrum, Loving, Matthews, Menefee, Milam, O'Kelly, Parker, Pittman, Pride, Prince, Rambo, Randolph, Scott, Sessums, Shaw, Stuart, Wheeler, White, Wilbur, Williams, and Wise. THE WUERTTENBERG EMIGRATION INDEX VOLUME I compiled by Trudy Schenk, Ruth Froelke and Inge Bork. 1986. Hard cover. 5½x8½. Alphabetized. 230 pp. $15.95. Order from Ancestry, Inc., P.O. Box 476, Salt Lake City, UT 84110.

"There were as many as 800,000 people who emigrated to other parts of the world from Wuerttemberg since the late seventeenth century," compilers of this work tell us. This volume is an index containing the names of 11,500 of those Germans who filed, in Wuerttemberg, their applications to emigrate. The information presented here consists of last name, first name, date, place, oberamt or district town—roughly equivalent to the American county seat, date of application, destination, and film number. All information contained in this volume has been extracted from the original Wuerttemberg emigration records filmed at Ludwigsburg and available on microfilm at the Genealogical Society of Utah in Salt Lake City. The publisher promises additional volumes at a later date. This and subsequent volumes will make available records formerly inaccessible to the non-professional due to the "...formidable task of reading through hundreds of reels of microfilm containing unindexed records written in difficult (for the novice virtually indecipherable) gothic script." JFD

RED RIVER COUNTY, TEXAS DEED ABSTRACTS VOLUME I abstracted by Joyce Martin Murray. 1986. Hard cover. 6x9. 194 pp. Indexed. $25.00. Order from the compiler, 2921 Daniles, Dallas, TX 75205.

Red River County, formed in 1836, originally covered a large area of Northeast Texas. The counties of Bowie, Cass, Fannin, Grayson, and Lamar were formed from this area. Historically it was also the state of Coahuila, Texas (Mexico) and the Republic of Texas. During the decade 1820-30, this area was settled by former residents of Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, and Tennessee. These abstracts were taken from microfilm of the original records covering the years 1831-1846 and comprising deed books A-B, A-B-C, D, and part of F. These are records of one of the earliest counties in Texas. Recorded here are deeds, wills, bonds, deeds of gift, bills of sale, slave sales, mortgages, powers of attorney and other legal documents. The compiler's five thousand entries make up three indices of place names, full names, and slaves. JFD

SUMMER SOLDIERS A SURVEY AND INDEX OF REVOLUTIONARY WAR COURTS-MARTIAL by James C. Neagles. 1986. Hard cover. 5½x8½. 300 pp. Indexed. $16.95. Order from Ancestry Inc., P.O. Box 476, Salt Lake City, UT 84110.

This book lists cases with source documentation of the courts-martial in Revolutionary War orderly books. These books, usually kept by an "orderly sergeant", were maintained on a daily basis. Orders of the day were recorded along with results of any court-martial proceedings. Included in this volume are the Rules and Articles of War, a brief review of Revolutionary War battles, living conditions, and types of offenses and punishment. Listed are 3,315 courts-martial records from 168 sets of orderly books for units serving under General Washington's command, under his generals, or under other commanding officers. Mr. Neagles has listed the records alpha-by-surname of defendant. He also indicates offense, punishment and military unit if available in the original record. The defendants listed here may not have appeared in other Revolutionary records. Mention of a soldier's name in these orderly books provides a primary source and is considered proof of military service at a definite time and place. This book allows us "to determine quickly and easily whether a given ancestor appears in court-martial records..." thereby saving "... much time and labor." NFW

WAKE COUNTY NORTH CAROLINA COUNTY COURT MINUTES (COURT OF PLEAS AND QUARTER SESSIONS) 1801 thru 1803 BOOK V by Weynette Parks Haun. 1985. Soft cover. 8½x11. 188 pp. Indexed. $22.50. Order from the author, 243 Argonne Dr., Durham, NC 27704.

The title of this book accurately indicates its contents. It is a straight-forward transcription of the records indicated; and, as the preface explains, "The entire text has been transcribed verbatim as nearly as possible." Those genealogists who have searched through difficult-to-read court minutes in dusty, sparsely lighted court houses will most appreciate this work. Because such records in their primary form bear no indices, the index of some 2500 names presented here is especially welcome. SHM

THE FAMILY OF JOHN LEWIS, PIONEER by Irvin Frazier, Mark W. Cowell Jr. and Lewis F. Fisher. 1985. 6x9. Hard cover. 378 pp. Indexed. $24.50 plus $2.00 postage and handling. Order from Fisher Publications, Inc., P.O. Box 17947, San Antonio, TX 70217.

Traced here are the descendants of John and Margaret Lynn Lewis, Irish immigrants who settled in Virginia's Shenandoah Valley in the 1730's. A chapter is devoted to each of the couple's four male children, Thomas, Andrew, William, and Charles in the first part of the book. In the second part a corresponding chapter traces the descendants of these sons. The descendants of two daughters are also traced. Some 9,200 descendants are mentioned, and a well written text examines the family history both proven and mythical. Pictures add a great deal of interest. Included among these is one of Nicholas Longworth, a Lewis descendant, with his bride, Alice Lee Roosevelt, and her noted father, Theodore Roosevelt. Although several books have been published previously on the John Lewis Family, this one is certain to be a welcome addition to the Lewis family researcher's library. SHM

WASHINGTON COUNTY, ARKANSAS MARRIAGE RECORDS, BOOKS A, B, & C, 1845-1871 compiled by Lois N. Miller. 1982. Soft cover. 118 pp. Indexed. 8½x11. $14.00

WASHINGTON COUNTY, ARKANSAS MARRIAGES, BOOKS D-E-F-G-H-I compiled by Lois N. Miller. 1985. 194 pp. Indexed. Hard cover, $25.00. Soft cover, $20.00. 8½x11. Order from the compiler. 1126 Sunset Dr., Fayetteville, AR 72701.

These two books contain data abstracted from marriage records located in the Washington County Court House, and in both the author has employed an unusual format. Marriages are first listed in alphabetical order by the groom's surname giving name of groom, bride, date, and location of the original record by marriage book and page number. A "Bride's Index" follows with the same information repeated, but in this section the listing is in order by the surname of the bride. Abstracts of marriages compiled from Books D-I consist of marriages recorded from 23 November 1871 through 9 July 1891, and include the ages of the bride and groom if shown in the original record. Those researching Washington County will find this a valuable resource. BJG

THE ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS OF LEMUEL PRUITT/PREWETT AND CATHERINE BRANTLEY by Caroline E. Hughes. 1983. Soft cover. 8½x11. 147 pp. Indexed. $25.00.

"LATERAL LINES OF KIRK PREWETT" A Supplement "ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS OF LEMUEL PRUITT/PREWETT AND CATHERINE BRANTLEY" by Caroline E. Hughes. 1983. Loose leaf. 8½x11. 65 pp. $7.00. Order from the author, 1000 S. Howerton St., Cushing, OK 74023.

Lemuel Pruitt/Prewett (c1716-1844) and Catherine Brantley (1770-c1830) were married in 1788 in Wilkes County, Georgia. Both died in Monroe County, Mississippi. He was the son of Byrd Prewett and Nancy Dyer. Catherine Brantley was the daughter of Phillip and Nancy Brantley. Before moving to Monroe County, Mississippi, the Prewetts lived in Maury County, Tennessee. Oklahoma, Georgia, Arkansas, Texas, Mississippi, and Tennessee all claim descendants today. Mrs. Hughes has certainly included enough interesting personal history to meet her goal of stimulating "...a knowledge and interest in people and events of the past as they link to the present." A letter-number system used to identify individuals is a bit confusing at first glance, but yields to minimal study. And, in a loosely structured work of this scope, most readers would appreciate a more careful and comprehensive index than is here provided. With the supplement the author fulfills a promise to add the Harris, Arnold, and Royston lines to her first book. These are collateral lines of Kirk Prewett and John Brantley Prewett. SHM

SLAVE GENEALOGY: A RESEARCH GUIDE WITH CASE STUDIES BY David H. Streets. 1986. Soft cover. 8½x11. 87 pp. $11.50. Order from Heritage Books, Inc., 3602 Maureen Lane, Bowie, MD 20715.

Three slave case studies included in this dissertation serve as examples of the methods used to explore slave genealogy. Both the text and the studies emphasize the enormous problems involved in the tracing of individual slaves. Of the three cases presented here, the earliest is dated 1839. Court records of Wayne County, Kentucky are frequently cited. The significance of this work probably lies in suggestions on the utilization of specific county records to examine the backgrounds of individual slaves. One must bear in mind, however, that these three cases were selected for the available material and that a specific search for a particular individual may prove disappointing. Along with a bibliography the work includes a number of references on slavery. It is certain that the author has identified for many "THE CHALLENGES OF SLAVERY TO THE FAMILY HISTORIAN." SHM

1830 CENSUS SEQUATCHIE VALLEY, MARION-BLEDSON COUNTIES by James L. Douthat. 1986. Soft cover. Spiral bound. 8½x11. 20 pp. Indexed. $9.25. Order from Mountain Press, P.O. Box 400, Signal Mountain, TN 37377.

Because Sequatchie County, Tennessee was not formed until 1858, it does not appear as a county in the 1830 census. Mr. Douthat presents this abstract as an aid to those interested in tracing the area's early residents. The entries list the head of household and indicate the number and age group of all household members by sex. The format is the usual (00001-0001) and blank 1830-1840 census forms are provided for expanding the abbreviated notations. JCH

IOWA COUSINS, A GENEALOGY by Amelia Wulf Beck and Juanita Comegys Gettman. 1983. Hard cover. 9x11. 548 pp. Indexed. $37.50. Order from Mrs. Beck, 5320 Kettler Ave., Lakewood, CA 90713.

This family book is a loosely structured collection of the results of a mother-daughter collaboration in the compilation of the family's history and genealogy. It purportedly traces all lines. Documentation is not lacking as typed or photocopies of the original documents are liberally included. In the presentation of family connections, it makes amends for a lack of organization and continuity with poignant anecdotes, lively bits of memorabilia, and the haunting melodies of the family's poets. A worthwhile addition to the libraries of all those who claim kinship with "Iowa Cousins." JCH

PENNSYLVANIA GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH by George K. Schweitzer, Ph.D., Sc.D. 1986. Soft cover. 6x9. 224 pp. $9.00. Order from Genealogical Sources, UNLTD., 407 Regent Court, Knoxville, TN 37923.

Here is another scholarly work by Dr. Schweitzer. Renowned among dedicated genealogists for his books on other states including, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Virginia as well as Tennessee, he is as thorough, precise, and knowledgeable in this one as in its fore-runners. No ancestral names are found here. However, novice and experienced researchers alike will find this book a valuable aid, especially those with Pennsylvania interests. Particularly notable is the chapter containing a digest of the state's county development. It lists for each of the present counties the approximate date of settlement of the area, date of county formation, parent county/counties, and present county seat with the court house zip code. The chapters dealing with general types of records and their locations are excellent reference sources and profitable reading, even for those with no Pennsylvania ancestry. SHM

NEIGHBORS IN WEAKLEY COUNTY, TENNESSEE, A LAND OWNERSHIP MAP 1827-1833 by Mary K. Vowell. 1985. Soft cover. 8½x11. 104 pp. Indexed. $12.50. Order from NSDAC, Isaac Dawson Chapter, c/o the author, 100 Ryan Ave., Martin, TN 38237.

Here are records from the W.P.A. typescript of Weakley County Occupant Entry Book, 1827-1833. The author has divided the county into sections of five square miles each; occupant-entry settlers are then grouped according to the section wherein their land was located. Information given includes name, occupant entry number, page number, acreage, waterway and boundaries. The index includes all names of Occupant Entry Book principals as well as their "Neighbors." Those who had ancestors in this area will want to examine these pages; for if a progenitor is listed here, you probably will be able to locate exactly the spot where he lived. SHM

POLK COUNTY, ARKANSAS 1860 CENSUS by Georgia D. Helderlein. 1986. Soft cover. 8½x11. 92 pp. Indexed. $12.00. Order from the compiler, 22118 Trotter Rd., Grass Valley, CA 95949.

This is a transcription of the 1860 federal census from the microfilm with all column headings included. According to the compiler, she has listed the names without notation excepting those "absolutely impossible to see or determine the information." This is her second Polk County publication, the first being the 1870 census of Polk County. Ms. Helderlein makes note of the loss of records in this county, first to the Civil War and then to fire in 1883. JCH

HYDE COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA COUNTY COURT MINUTES 1736 THRU 1756 BOOK I by Weynette Parks Haun. 1985. Soft cover. 8½x11. 154 pp. Indexed. $16.50. Order from the compiler, 243 Argonne Dr., Durham, NC 27704.

These transcriptions were made from records in the North Carolina Department of Archives and History. Problems relating to transcription of records of this vintage require much patience, fortitude and determination. Archaic hand writing styles, brittle paper, faded ink, and nearly incomprehensible pagination are but a few of the more challenging ones encountered by Ms. Haun. Despite these difficulties, she has produced for North Carolina researchers a most valuable and easy-to-use aid in this carefully transcribed, verbatim rendering of county court minutes. SHM

PEARCE, BARTLETT, MATTHEWS, SMART, AND ALLIED FAMILIES compiled by James Alonzo Matthews, Jr. 1983. Hard Cover. 8½x11. 400 pp. Indexed. $38.20. Order from Lucille Pearce, 904 W. Kansas, Midland, TX 79701.

The compiler of this work died in 1957 leaving his unfulfilled dream of its publication to be realized twenty-six years later by Lucille Pearce, a cousin. Mr. Matthews' dedicated efforts and the years of up-dating by his cousin have produced a beautiful family book worthy of being called a model for anyone aspiring to compile a family history. The Pearce line is traced from sixth century England to twentieth century America. Much of the family history in the latter centered around Madison and Bond Counties in Illinois. Like most such families, however, its branches are widespread. Some of the allied families referred to in the title include Allin, Allison, Anderson, Boughner/Buchner, Brouwer, Bussing, Cason, Creed, Delamater, DeLashmitt, Foster (Munson, Barker), Gonterman, Harnsberger (Tunnell), Hauskins, Hoxsey, Jans, Johnson, Keown, Kirkpatrick, Long, Martin, McCoy, Miles, Olive, Oswald, Sharp, Snow, Stallings, Sutton, Tabor, Tschudi, Tye, Vermilyea, Vincent, Waldron, and Warren. JOHNSON COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA COUNTY COURT MINUTES (COURT OF PLEAS AND QUARTER SESSIONS) BOOK XV, 1835 THRU 1838, 150 pp. BOOK XVI, 1839 THRU 1842, 169 pp. Both books by Wynette Parks Haun. 1985. Soft Cover. 8½x11. Indexed. $20.00 each. Order from the author, 243 Argonne Dr., Durham, NC 27704.

The author has excerpted records of the Johnson County Court sitting quarterly at Smithfield, North Carolina. Matters before the court include: appointments and commissions to administer county functions; security and peace bonds; bonds for guardianship of minors, apprentices, and paternity bonds; registry of deeds, wills, estate probate and settlement; allocation of funds for jury, road and bridge work, and other tax expenditures; summons of juries and veniremen (grand and petit); names of court and county officials, civil tort and breach hearings and sentences; registry of cattle markings; and petitions. Each volume has an index of about 2,500 names which, with the wide range of activities involved, provides a rich resource for genealogical research in Johnson County, North Carolina. RP

WASHINGTON COUNTY, ARKANSAS INDEX TO WILLS 1828-1931, INDEX TO PROBATE BOOKS A-K 1837-1901 compiled by Lois N. Miller. 1980. Soft cover. 8½x11. 165 pp. Indexed. $15.00. Order from the compiler, 1126 Sunset Dr., Fayetteville, AR 72701.

This book consists of two indices. The first is an index of testators listed alpha-by-surname for the indicated period. Information is given in four columns: testator, year, will book, and page number. The second index lists names from probate books A-B and D-K. Information provided for each name here consists of year, book, and page number plus the record from which that information was taken. An interesting note by the compiler explains how Washington County people met the problem of restoring records lost to the Civil War. SHM, JCH

NORRIS RESERVOIR GRAVE REMOVALS VOLUME I (A-M) AND VOLUME II (N-Z) by Edith Wilson Hutton. 1985. Soft cover, spiral bound. 8½x11. Vol. I, 273 pp., $23.50 (TN residents add $1.50 tax). Vol. II, 232 pp., $19.25 (TN residents add $1.23 tax). Order from the author, 5205 Malibu Dr., Knoxville, TN 37918.

Mrs. Hutton gives two main sources for her data, TVA records in Chattanooga and the Special Collections at the University of Tennessee Library in Knoxville. Comparing information from various sources such as grave removal authorization records, family Bibles, and lists of persons (next of kin) authorizing the removals, she is precise in her reconciliation of conflicting information contained in her sources and frankly acknowledges that some questions raised are without definite answers. Along with an index of all persons (with their 1930s addresses) who authorized a removal, there are lists of disinterment and reinterment cemeteries and names of individuals and cemeteries left undisturbed in Norris Dam State Park. The records of these 5,226 grave removals from 34,000 acres in East Tennessee constitute for the family historian with connections in the area an important source and a unique tribute to his ancestors. ABSTRACTS OF DEEDS, DEED BOOK A, 1830-1838, WASHINGTON COUNTY, FAYETTEVILLE, ARKANSAS compiled by Lois N. Miller. 1983. Soft cover, spiral bound. 8½x11. 50 pp. Indexed. $10.00. Order from the compiler, 1126 Sunset Dr., Fayetteville, AR 72701.

The format for these abstracts is a tabular one with columns headed by page number, grantor, grantee, item transferred, consideration or price, description, and other names mentioned. The names were abstracted from the original records on file at the Washington County Court House and are listed alpha-by-surname of grantor. An "all name" index with full names provides for easier searching. Copies of the deeds may be obtained by writing the circuit clerk's office, at the Washington County Court House. SHM, JCH

LEE OF PRINCE GEORGE COUNTY VIRGINIA by Kathryn Lee Smith. 1985. 8½x11. Soft cover. 120 pp. Indexed. $15.00. Order from the author, 603 Tenth St., Zephyrhills, FL 34248.

The earliest proven progenitor of Mrs. Smith's Lee family is Nathaniel Lee (ca 1730-1820) who married as his first wife Elizabeth Mills and who was born in Prince George County, Virginia. The author, having visited many locales where the family's history is recorded, approaches that history as one who has "met" many of its participants. Indicative of this posture is her description of the present-day town of LaGrange in Fayette County, Tennessee where some of her Lee ancestors settled about 1830: "...beautiful, neat,...with well kept ante-bellum homes and a great deal of Civil War History." Mrs. Smith's ancestral word portraits are perceptively drawn. Her documentation, though unobtrusive, is precise and endues the reader with confidence in its accuracy and in the conclusions drawn therefrom. JCH

FROM AARON JENKINS TO HAROLD JENKINS--CONWAY TWITTY'S ROOTS by Shirley Wilson, CGRS. 1985. Hard cover. 8½x11. 200 pp. Indexed. $29.95, plus $2.00 shipping & handling (TN residents add $2.32 tax). Order from Twitty City Mail Order, 122 C Allison Dr., Hendersonville, TN 37075.

Conway Twitty's (Harold Jenkins') roots are traced from Virginia's Northern Neck (present-day Fairfax County) in the 1650's to Union County, South Carolina after the Revolutionary War, thence to northern Mississippi. Aaron Jenkins, Conway Twitty's second great grandfather and the subject of this genealogy, was the first of the Jenkins family to settle in Calhoun County, Mississippi. There is a vast amount of material on various Jenkins families of North Mississippi included in this volume. Documentation is furnished through Bible, cemetery, census and land records; through information from descendants; and from research in various state archives. Maps, Civil War letters, and old photos enhance the book. Of special interest is a section devoted to recent photos of Conway and his family. A chart enabling related individuals to determine kinship to Conway is included. Research continues on the ancestors of Aaron Jenkins, and the author is interested in hearing from anyone with information on this and related families. Allied lines are Adams, Cain, Edwards, Henley, Johnson, Jones, Leachman, Lewellyn, McGinnis, Miles, Moore, Parker, Peden, Smith, Stewart and White. Here is a genealogy heartily welcomed by Mississippians, Jenkins descendants, and Conway Twitty fans. EDS
