THE TENNESSEE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY publilishes The Tennessee Genealogical Magazine, Ansearchin' News (ISSN 0003-5246) in March, June, September, and December for its members. Annual dues are $20, and members receive the four issues published in the 12-month period following payment of their dues. (If your payment is received in April '96, for example, you will receive the June, September, and December issues for 1996, and the March issue for 1997. Issues missed due to late payment of dues can be purchased separately for $7.50 each, including postage.) Membership expiration dates are printed on the mailing label. Please send any address changes to Ansearchin' News, P.O. Box 111249, Memphis, TN 38111-1249 two months in advance of the normal delivery date to avoid a $3.00 fee for redeeming and remailing. In addition to receiving four issues of the quarterly, TGS members are entitled to place one free query in the magazine each year and may run additional queries for $3.00 each. Members also have free access to the TGS surname index file.

Tennessee Ancestry Certificate Program

TGS sponsors this program to recognize and honor the early settlers who helped shape the great state of Tennessee. Persons wishing to enter their ancestors in the program are invited to submit an application with supporting documented evidence that proves their prime ancestor lived in Tennessee or the area that became Tennessee before 1880. Family charts are not considered as documentary evidence. Each application must be accompanied by a $10 fee. Handlettered certificates suitable for framing will be issued to each person whose application meets program qualifications. The certificates carry the name of the prime ancestor, when and where he or she settled in Tennessee, and the name of the present-day descendant(s) submitting the application. For an application and more information, write: Jane Paessler, Director of Certificates, at TGS.

TGS SURNAME INDEX

TGS members have free access to information in the surname file of ancestors. Mail requests to Lydia White, Director of the Surname Index, at the TGS address, indicating the surname and given name of the person you are searching for, and at least one date and one location. Include a self-addressed and stamped long envelope. If the information is available, you will receive two photocopy pages of up to 10 surname cards of your ancestor or fellow researchers. Any additional information will be supplied at 50 cents per page (five cards to a page). Please restrict requests to no more than one per month, and to only one family name per request.

If you haven't submitted your own surname cards yet, please print or type vital data on 3x5" index cards and mail to TGS. Include ancestor's name; date and place of birth, death, and marriage; spouse and parents' names; your own name and address, and the date the card was submitted.

TGS Is Moving To Historic Site

September marks a significant date in the life of the Tennessee Genealogical Society as it relocates in the Davieshire Library on the Davies Plantation in the Brunswick community of northeast Shelby County. TGS' new home is an attractive whitecolumned brick structure which was built on the grounds in 1937 by the late Ellen Davies (Mrs. Hillman Philip) Rodgers whose family lived on the plantation for more than a century. The bricks in the library came from the original President's home and Training School which were built in 1912 and 1924 on the campus of the West Tennessee State Teachers' College (now the University of Memphis). An antebellum stained glass door in the library is from the home of Mr. Rodgers' father, William Clay Rodgers of Lexington, Miss. The 5,000-square foot facility, with east and west enrances, will double TGS' library capacity. TGS has signed a five-year rental agreement with the Davieshire Library Board.

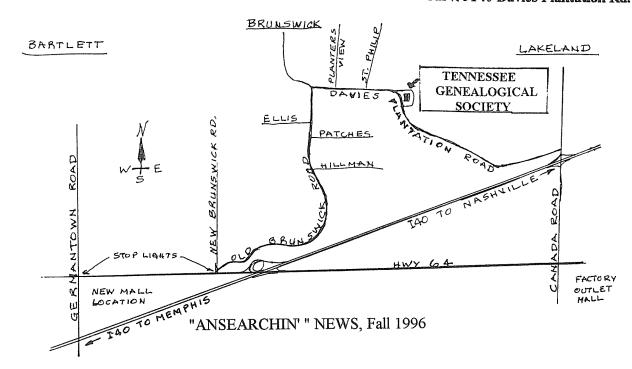

Located within sight of the library is the historic Davies Manor, a two-story log house that is considered the county's oldest home. The Tennessee Historical Commission erected a roadside marker at the house in 1953, and the U. S. Department of Interior recognized it as a National Historical Landmark in 1975. The original log home, believed to have been built by an Indian chief before 1807, was acquired by Joel W. Royster in 1831. Logan Davies secured a locator's deed to the property in 1838, and he and his brother, James Baxter Davies, bought it from Royster in 1857.

Commenting on the agreement, TGS President Mary Ann Bell said, "I'm confident the alliance between our Society and the Davieshire Association will be mutually beneficial. It's a natural alliance and, through it, I believe we can create a historical and genealogical research center that will be a major asset to Shelby County as well as the state of Tennessee." Mrs. Bell expressed appreciation to TGS' Building Search Committee --composed of James E. Bobo, Frank Paessler, and Kay Hudson -- for its work in obtaining the new location. The Davieshire Library, located at 9140 Davies Plantation Road, Brunswick, Tenn., 38014, is readily accessible from Interstate 40, and Highways 64 and 70.

Hetty Kennedy McEwen

... a woman who stood her ground fearlessly

One writer called her "a beloved eccentric and outspoken individualist."

Another described her as "fearless in her devotion to principle."

Her daughter wrote that she had heard it said of her mother, "She is of the stuff John Knox was made." And Hetty Montgomery (Kennedy) McEwen said of herself, "I would glory in suffering as a martyr."

Of Scottish-Irish descent, Hetty was proud of the McGregor blood that ran through her veins .. and perhaps even prouder of the role her ancestors had played in the American Revolution. Her grandfather, Col..William Edmiston of Washington Co., Va., 1 commanded a regiment at the battle of King's Mountain where three of her uncles were killed and one was wounded. In all, eight Edmistons (six of them her uncles) fought at King's Mountain as did her father, Robert Campbell Kennedy, and his cousin, Col. William Campbell.

After Tennesseeans voted to secede from the Union in 1861, the 65-year old Hetty and her husband, Col. Robert H. McEwen, were among the few Nashville residents who kept the national flag flying from their housetop. One source says the flag on the McEwen house was stitched together by Hetty herself when talk of secession began.

Col. McEwen was said to have received an anonymous letter threatening assassination unless the Stars and Stripes were removed.

Later he was told that the flag must come down or the house would be burned to bring it down. When the colonel asked Hetty what they should do about the flag, she is said to have replied: ²

"Load me the shotgun, Colonel Ewen."

He loaded it with sixteen buckshot in each barrel, and handed it to her.

"Now," she said, "I will take the responsibility of guarding that flag. Whoever attempts to pass my door on their way to the roof for that star-spangled banner under which my four uncles fell at King's Mountain must go over my dead body!"

A short time later, Governor Isham Harris issued an order for all firearms to be brought to him at the statehouse. He sent a squad of soldiers to the McEwen home to enforce his order.

The soldiers were met by a defiant Hetty who gave them a pointed message for Harris.

"Go tell the governor I will not surrender my gun to anyone but himself," she said. "And if he wants it, tell him to come in person and risk the consequences."

The governor did not put in an appearance, and Old Glory continued to fly from the McEwen rooftop. Hetty, in the meantime, was said to have been busy night and day cooking food, knitting socks, and furnishing lodging for Confederate soldiers.³

² Frank Moore, Women of the War (Hartford, Conn.: S.S. Scranton & Co., 1866) 510-512.

On April 4, 1862, The Athens Post in McMinn County reported that "Mrs. McEwen of Nashville was visited by several Federal officers and she unhesitatingly told them that she had been the last person in Nashville to take down the Stars and Stripes but now she was for eternal separation." ⁴

If Hetty's loyalties seemed divided, so were those of countless citizens in all sections of the country. But what made Hetty memorable was the way in which she fearlessly stood her ground and spoke out for her beliefs.

Born on 29 July 1796 -- 58 days after Tennessee became a state -- Hetty was the fifth of seven children born to Robert Campbell Kennedy and Esther Edmiston.⁵ They had come from Washington County, Va., to Nashville in 1786 when it was just a fort on the Cumberland River in the territory of North Carolina. As soon as it was considered safe to leave the fort, Kennedy built a plantation home three miles from Nashville where he farmed. In later years, Hetty would tell her children about the dangers and trials of the pioneers who, while planting and plowing corn for bread, always kept a loaded rifle at the end of the row to ward off possible Indian attacks.⁶ She and her brother, William Edmiston Kennedy, went to school at Valladolid Academy in Nashville which was taught by their brother-in-law, George Martin, a young Scotsman from North Carolina.

In 1808, Robert and Esther decided to move to Lincoln County to occupy the bounty lands he had received for his military service during the Revolutionary War. They left three of their children at school in Nashville and took the other four -- including Hetty -- with them. Lincoln County at the time was a true wilderness covered with canebrake and with native forests that had never been surveyed. Hetty later recalled, "My mother said she could put her hand through a crack in the house and break off a cane at any time. There were no near neighbors, no doctors, no schools or churches in the county at that time."

In due time, Robert and his workers constructed a fine farm about two and a half miles from Fayetteville on the old Nashville road, where they soon were producing their own food and clothing. Robert was known for his integrity, patriotism, and generosity. It was said that no poor man or woman was ever turned from his door. He often sent his servants to cultivate widow's fields and harvest their crops.

When Hetty's brother William went to Washington College in East Tennessee, he became close friends with Robert Houston McEwen. The two volunteered for the army when Gen. Andrew Jackson called for troops in 1813. En route to the service, they stopped at the Kennedy plantation where the young McEwen was captivated by Hetty but did not declare his love until the war was over. Robert won laurels at the battle of Horse Shoe, taking over command of the regiment after the death of Col. Patton and attaining the rank of colonel himself. After the war, Robert moved to Fayetteville where he and Hetty were married at her mother's home on 14 November 1815. (Her father had died in February.) The following September, Robert established a dry goods store in town and soon developed a large trade with the Indians, who called him "Honest Bob" for his fairness and honesty. He spoke the Cherokee language well, and was a close friend of John Ross, the Cherokee chief. In June1828 the McEwens moved to Nashville in order to give their children a better education.

Robert served as an elder in the Presbyterian Church for more than 30 years. He died in Nashville in January 1863. Hetty continued to live in Nashville for a number of years, and in the 1870 census was listed as running a boarding house. She died at Augusta, Ga., on 19 January 1881.

Folding those self-addressed envelopes can result in their being lost or destroyed by the new automated postal machines, reports the Miami Meanderings, publication of the Miami County Historical and Genealogical Societies, Troy, Ohio. The new machines -- which sort billions of pieces of mail -- don't take kindly to bulging letters that refuse to slide comfortably into the machine. To avoid calamaties in the automated machinery, postal workers are authorized to send bulging letters to the dead letter office.

A good way to assure that your letter containing a SASE reaches its destination, NEVER FOLD THE ENCLOSED ENVELOPE.

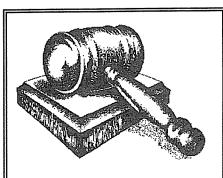

Instead, get acquainted with the common envelope sizes and choose sizes that will easily fit inside larger ones without the necessity of folding.

Here are the common envelope sizes:

- #6 common short ones measuring 6-1/2 inches long
- #9 these are nine inches long and fit nicely into a #10 envelope
- #10 commonly called "a long envelope," this business-size version is 9-1/2 inches long
- #11 measures 11 inches long and comfortably holds a #10
- #12 measures 12 inches long, but is heavier and may require extra postage

Some other things you might not know about today's mail:

-Typed envelopes reach their addresses one day earlier than handwritten ones. The optical scanner tat reads the envelopes starts at the bottom and reads the zip code first. If you use "Attn." at the bottom left side of the envelope, the scanner will kick it out and your letter will be held until it can be manually sorted. Mail will reach its destination at least a day sooner if you use zip codes.

Direct Federal Tax-Delinquent Property Owners Listed for 1814

Nicholas T. Perkins, collector for the 5th U.S. Tax Collection District in Tennessee, ran a notice in The Clarion & Tennessee Gazette on 12 December 1815 announcing that certain property in the state would be sold for the amount of the unpaid 1814 direct federal tax plus an additional 20 percent. The direct tax was levied by an act of Congress on 2d August 1813. Public sale of the taxdelinquent property was to be held at the house of Thomas Talbot, Esq., in Nashville beginning at 10 a. m. on 12 Feb 1816 and continuing from day to day until all of the property was sold.

Confessions from a Convert --

Computer-Assisted Genealogy Research Opens New World

Carol Yvonne (Caughron) Mittag (9480 Club Walk Court, Memphis, TN 38133, (901) 385-1501)

I kicked and screamed and resisted the computer revolution every step of the way. Initially, I felt I was too old to learn new technologies, but in truth I think it was just my Missouri stubbornness.

I have had a love of genealogy for years. My husband, who does not share my interest, had the foresight to realize what a great research tool a computer would be for me. In addition to a computer, he also purchased a genealogy family tree program. I begin to input all the bits and pieces of information I had collected over the years. He also signed up for Prodigy (*p) so I could use the Genealogy Bulletin Board. Two years later he replaced my computer with one that has CD-ROM (computer disc - read only memory) and purchased a new genealogy program, "Family Tree Maker Deluxe Edition 3.0 for Windows." This genealogy program has a built-in tutorial which makes it very user friendly. In addition to all the basic information about an ancestor, I can input stories and notes, biographical facts, medical information, titles, nicknames, and multiple marriages. I can now customize my ancestor and descendant trees, sort children by age, search the "Family Finder Index," and print kinship reports in seconds.

The Prodigy Genealogy Bulletin Board is truly remarkable. (There are several other on-line computer services available such as "America on Line" and "CompuServe.") I simply post an inquiry under one of the topics such as "Surname" and someone usually responds. Sometimes it is someone researching the same name and other times it is someone having a good tip as to where I can find my information. There also are topics such as National and State Resources, Native Americans, Military Sources, and others. A certified genealogist is on-line to answer questions. I was thrilled when I got a response to my first note. I was researching my Moore ancestors from Horse Creek, North Carolina, and a lady in Syracuse, New York, responded. Her Moore ancestors were from the same area. Over the next couple of years, I printed two notebooks of our "electronic conversations."

My first CDs were produced by Automated Archives, Inc., Genealogical Research System (GRS). They were programmed so I could research by Soundex. Initially I had thought researching my maiden name of Caughron would be a snap compared to my husband's mother's maiden name of Smith. However, I found a wide variety of spellings such as Coughron, Cochran, Cohron, Cauhorn, etc. I learned not to eliminate any spelling. This Scottish surname is hard to pronounce and the census takers and other officials sometimes simply spelled it the way it sounded.

The CDs with marriage records on the states I was researching -- Tennessee, Kentucky, North Carolina, and Virginia -- contained information collected from courthouses and other official sources on more than a million names. Not only was I finding the full names of both spouses, but also the date and county where they had married. I also was finding more than one marriage for some ancestors which provided clues to the date of death for a spouse.

Originally I purchased two census CDS, "U.S. Census Index 1840-49" and "U.S. Census Index 1850, Kentucky and Tennessee." By typing in a name and using the Soundex, they allowed me to find in minutes information which before had taken weeks to uncover. These CDs only contain the heads of households, but they also provide information from the actual census such as the page number of the record in the census, along with the township, county, and state. I also was able to find the names of other relatives and neighbors.

Not having the time or resources to publish my family history, I jumped at the chance to submit my family history to be included on the Family Tree Maker's "Family Archives, World Family Tree" being produced by Automated Archives and Broderbund Software's Banner Blue Division. The CDs would contain actual family histories from their customers. I copied my information from my Family Tree Maker 3.0 for Windows onto the floppy disc which the company had provided. Volumes 1 and 2 were scheduled to be issued around December 1995. They didn't actually arrive until a month later and I was disappointed to find my sister's information had been included but not mine. Since I wasn't a computer Whiz, I just assumed I had done something wrong in transferring my information. Apparently the company had a larger response than it had anticipated because several months later I received notice that my history was on Volume 3. I was elated!

After installing Family Tree Maker on my hard disk, I was able to view the CDs. This program also has a Family Finder index that indicates which CDs contain information relating to the surnames I'm researching. The CDs exceeded my expectations. They contain thousands of family trees and millions of names. Simply by researching the index, I was finding new branches for my family tree as well as filling in some enormous gaps. Some family trees contain facts and notes which always help make research more interesting.

While I have come a long way in fully utilizing my computer for research, the book, "PC for Dummies," is always close at hand. I have only ventured on the Internet a few times. With each birthday, Christmas, and every other reason I can think of, my genealogy CD collection continues to grow. (Most CDs are in the $30 to $50 range.) I know not to assume that all information on a CD is correct, and also recognize that all information should be documented by actual records. However, CDs are an excellent tool for finding where to look.

From the census index CDS dating from 1790 to 1850, I have been able to trace migration patterns for some of my ancestors. In some cases, it was simply a county boundary change. The marriage records CDs helped me find maiden names for my female ancestors, opening up whole new branches to research. The CDs containing Social Security death benefit records helped me find actually birth and death records for more recent family members. The World Family Tree CDs contained one complete branch of my family back to the 1500s.

My sister, Joyce Rhodes, shares my love of genealogy and we have spent many an hour together researching in courthouses, visiting the Tennessee State Archives, viewing microfilm and microfiche, verifying and analyzing our information. I also visited Maury County, Tenn., where I discovered a double-related descendant of my Caughron and Goad ancestors. He also told me about a book, "The Goads -- A Frontier Family," which I later purchased from the author, Kenneth Haas. (There has been a lot of interest in the Goads because Joanna Goad -- sister to my fourth great-grandfather -- was the mother of Tennessee's first governor, Gen. John Sevier. I have since learned that another Tennessee governor -- Frank Goad Clement -- was another family descendant.)

I still love to curl up with a good genealogy book, but the CDs have saved me a great deal of time in knowing where to search. Genealogical CDs can now be viewed at some public libraries and some local Family History Centers of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints. The CDs are being produced faster than I want to celebrate birthdays!

Bits and pieces of information continue to sprout like seeds, and I have filled in branches that were bare at the time I submitted my information to the World Family Tree. I'm proud that I participated and that my information -- though not complete -- is preserved.

Tos FAMILY BIBLE

Barbara Lancaster Tsirigotis of Irving, Tex., has provided TGS with copies of pages from her great grandmothers' Bibles along with some family infor-mation she has collected over the years.

Writes Barbara: "I have traced the Stewart family back to Nashville and Carthage, Tenn., in the 1870's. This information comes from the family Bible of Louiza (Marsh) Stewart and census records. It seems they moved to Fannin Co., Tex., in late 1889 or very early 1890, only to return to Smith Co., Tenn., by mid-1893. In early 1898, they were once again in Delta Co., Tex., and later settled near Marietta in Cass County. Together they had eight children.

"Following Louiza's death in 1905, Hyram Lincoln Stewart married Maude Mae Matthews and they had three sons. All the Stewart children remained in the northeast Texas area, mainly in Fannin, Lamar, Cass, and Red River counties. Louiza and Hyram Lincoln Stewart are buried in Bryan's Mill Cemetery in Cass County. Maude Mae Matthews also is buried in Cass County."

Copied by Barbara Lancaster Tsirigotis 3008 Vassar Drive, Irving, TX 75062, (214) 255-8966

Of this side of her family, Barbara writes: "I have traced the Harrison family back to Giles Co., Tenn., where William Henry Harrison was born in 1869. His mother, Permalia M. Davidson, finally married his father, Presley Harrison, in 1874. The following year, Presley deserted Permalia and young William, or so the story goes. In 1878 Permalia married Tom Powers. In 1889 the Powers family and William Harrison moved to Texas. William settled in Waxahachie. Permalia and Tom had nine children.

"In 1898 William was living in Sherman, Grayson Co., Tex., where he met and married Tlithia Kelley. Born in Fort Smith, Ark., in 1880, she was the daughter of Louis D. and Margaret E. "Annie" (Farr) Kelley. The Kelleys seemed to drift back and forth across the Oklahoma/Texas state line, living alternately in Texas' Grayson and Cooke counties and in Oklahoma's Johnson and Carter counties.

"According to the 1900 census, Tlithia was living with William's mother, Permalia, and her husband Tom Powers. William, however, was not on that census. William and Tlithia moved back to Waxahachie, Tex., and then later to Delta, Fannin, and finally Lamar counties. Their seven surviving children (two stillbirths) remained in the northeast and north central areas of Texas.

"Tlithia had a brother, James Samuel Kelley, who married Belle Pool of Louisiana. They, too, drifted back and forth across the state line.

"Permalia died around 1940 in Norman, Oklahoma. Tlithia and William Harrison are buried in Roxton, Texas. No other record has been found of Presley Harrison."

McMinn County in Civil War Days

As reflected in The Athens Post of 1863, Sam. L Ivins, Editor (Excerpts from microfilm produced by the Tennessee State Library & Archives. Not all issues available.)

16 January 1863

The Chattanooga Rebel contains the following list of casualties from McMinn County in the 19th Tennessee Regiment, Co. H, Capt. Paul McDermott commanding, at the battle of Murfreesborough on Dec. 31st, 1862: Killed - John Andy Stansberry, Thomas Smith

Wounded - Lieut. Frank Hale, badly in hip; William Lane, in ankle; William Archer, left leg broke below knee; William Bradford, in right side, bad but wld. recover; Rufus Staples, shoulder, severely; Thomas M. Alexander, right arm, flesh wound; R. C. Cooke, arm, not severe; Wash. Grogan, shoulder, slight; James Strange, in hand; John Baskett, arm; Wash. Grizzle, slight; Henry Metcalfe.

To the Public: Damage done to the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad by the recent incursion of the enemy's cavalry will interrupt the shipment of salt being made in Virginia for the use of the people of Tennessee. Jno. R. Branner, president of the railroad, states that it will require at least 60 days to reconstruct the bridges lately destroyed on this road and restore it in running order. He expects to have the bridge across the Wautauga rebuilt within 30 days and have transportation running from either end of the road to the Holston.

Capt. Joseph Gibbs Frazier of the 19th Tennessee Regiment is no more! He fell on the battle field three miles of Murfreesborough about 11 o'clock on Wednesday, Dec. 31st, while gallantly leading his men on a charge. His remains were carried from the field by two of his men and brought home to his mother in Rhea County by his little brother, where he was interred with honors of war by the citizens. A large number of his friends were present.

In Chancery Court at Athens: In the matter of Allen Dodson vs. Henderson Carter, James Carter & others, it appearing that the residences of Levi Carter, Absalom Blanton and wife Nancy Blanton (formerly Nancy Carter), are unknown; that Peter Carter is a citizen of Missouri; Susan Presly (formerly Susan Carter), widow of Levi Presly dec'd and his minor children, Jane Presly, Caroline Presly, Perline Presly, and four other minors whose names are unknown are citizens of Kentucky; Catharine Carter, widow of John Carter, dec'd and his minor heirs, John, George, Mary Ann, Susan Ann, Peter, and Nathan Carter, now citizens of Kentucky, it is ordered that said non-residents appear before the chancellor (of this court) on the third Monday of February next to plead, answer, or demur to said bill.

Died in Benton, Polk Co., on the 17th inst. of diptheria, Charles Woodson Lewis, youngest son of J.Q.A. and Susan I. Lewis, aged four years, 25 days.

Married at the residence of the bride's father on Pond Creek, Monroe Co., by Rev. G. A. Caldwell, Mr. Gideon Blackburn Caldwell to Miss Julia Ann Ramsey.

30 January 1863

20 February 1863

To All Whom It May Concern: Know ye that I will leave these "diggings" on the first day of next month for the Mississippi Swamps. All those having clothing they wish to send to any members of my company may leave it with the Depot Agent at Sweetwater or Athens, Ten., and it will be a pleasure for me to take it to them as the boys stand in need of it.

-W. W. Grubb, Capt., Com'ding Co. G, 80th Reg.

27 February 1863

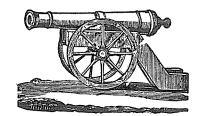

Attention 19th Tennessee: Having been detailed by Col. F. M. Walker to assist Capt. J. H. Hannah and other officers to gather up absentees of our Regiment and recruit the ranks of the same, therefore all members of Co. H or any other company, absent without leave, are hereby ordered to rejoin their company at once or they will be arrested and reported to court martial. No certificate is legal unless limited and signed by an Army surgeon. I will enlist all persons desirous of joining this veteran Regiment whether of conscript age or not, if they will report to me in person. They shall have the bounty, transportation to the Regiment, and all other advantages of volunteer soldiers besides avoiding the reproach of conscription. Come, my countrymen, help us drive the invaders from our Tennessee homes.

- J. A. Kimbrough, First Lieut., Co. H, 19th Tennessee Veterans

We regret to learn that W. P. Brooks, enrolling officer for the 10th District of Carter County, was waylaid and killed by a Lincolnite by the name of George Hautley. The murderer is a deserter from the Confederate Army and has with him 20 or 30 vandals as fiendish as himself. Lt. Brooks was a noble young man and had served his country gallantly for 12 months in Col. Cook's Reg't, Tenn. Volunteers (Bristol Advocate)

6 March

Died at Tate Springs, Grainger Co., on 13 February, Robert T. Gettys, son of James Gettys of Seven Mills, Tenn., aged 35 years.

At Mouse Creek on 21st inst., Andrew McMullen Magill, son of James H. and Sarah Magill, aged four yrs, 1 mo, 1 day. His body was laid beside that of his little brother, Wallace, who died in 1855, only six days older at the time of his death than little Mack.

Of diptheria on Friday evening the 13th inst. after a short but painful illness, Newton J. Spillman, youngest son of the late N. J. Spillman and Mary A. Ross, aged 3 yrs, 8 mo.

John Tate, son of J. M. and M. J. Horton, died in this place Friday, Feb. 12, 1863, after an illness of only 18 hours - aged 4 yrs, 4 mo, 4 days.

Died 7th Feb. in McMinn County of disease contracted in the service of his country, Peter Snider, second son of Moses Snider, in the 34th year of his age. He was a member of Capt. Sandusky's Company - a good soldier, brave and gallant.

Jarvis Williams, a printer and for several years some 20 years ago connected with the publication of the newspaper at Athens, died at Loudon, Tenn., in January last. He had served with several companies in the present war, and was discharged on account of his age and disability. At the time of his death, he was acting superintendent of the hospital at Loudon, ministering to the wants of the sick and wounded soldiers. He was about 50 years of age. His remains were interred near Benton, Polk Co., where he had resided for the last 10 years. He leaves his wife, some relatives, and many friends to mourn his loss. (He worked with the editor of this paper at Greensboro, Ala., in 1834-35.)

Married in Kingston Tuesday evening, March 3d by Rev. D. Fleming, Mr. J. H. Zinn to Miss Julia Atwood, all of Kingston.

Married on the 26th ult. by Rev. M. A. Cass, Mr. T. J. Errickson to Miss Parthenia J. Johns, all of this county.

10 March

Died on the 4th of March at the residence of Col. Moses Cunningham, McMinn Co, Mr. John B. Hood in his 87th year. He was a printer by occupation and for many years was in the newspaper business in East Tennessee and Northern Georgia.

Died on Fork Creek, Monroe Co., Feb. 14, little Lizzie M. Roberts, infant daughter of R. C. and Addie Roberts, age 9 mo, 5 days, of scarlet fever.

1 May

Col. Stanton W. Leuty departed this life at his residence in Rhea Co. on the Sabbath evening, April 5. He was born Feb. 14, 1821, and was united in marriage to Harriet O. McDonald Nov. 21st, 1850. Col. Leuty was a kind husband, good neighbor, a firm Southern rights man, and a most kind and affectionate father. He has left a wife and four interesting children to mourn this irreparable loss.

The family of Albert Sydney Johnston is said to be in very destitute conditions in California. Gen. Pillow is out in a communication in The Huntsville Confederate urging people of the Confederacy to do something in behalf of the wife and children of this great soldier who died in our defence.

Died in this county on April 20 of inflammation of the brain after an illness of three days, Caroline "Callie" Queener, daughter of G. W. and Rachel Queener, aged 14 yrs, 5 mo, 9 days. She professed religion at Cane Creek campground in September 1862 at a camp meeting held by Rev. C. Long, and joined the Methodist Church and lived a christian life until her death

Married on the 27th of May by Rev. Joseph Peter, Capt. James G. Blair to Miss Margaret E. Carmichael of Monroe County.

Married on the 9th inst. at the residence of the bride's father by Rev. A. G. Haygood of the Georgia Conference, Lieut. A. B. Latham of McMinn Co. to Miss Sarah A. S. Brooks of Palmetto, Ga. Accompanying the above notice was a pound cake a little less in size than the Sugar Loaf Mountain and a $10 bill. We know how to appreciate such magnificent tokens, and tender our best wishes to Lieut. Latham and his bride.

In the matter of James M. Henderson, adm'r of A. D. Keyes, dec'd, vs. Mary A. 7 November

John Strutton, member of Capt. Prophet's Co. of this county, died at Loudon on Tuesday after but a few days' illness. His officers report him to have been a good and faithful soldier.

Levi H. Knight - This individual, formerly a citizen of Meigs Co., but who for the last two years has been in the Federal service acting in the capacity of spy, recruiting officer, and Negro-runner, was captured with his son engaged in the same service last week near Brady's Ferry. In the effort to capture them, Knight and son were shot and wounded -- the old man slightly and the young man seriously.

The Soldiers of McMinn County

By W. T. Lane

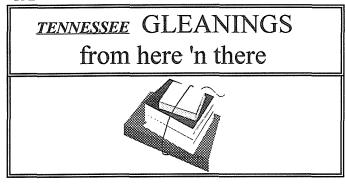

From microfilm produced by the Tennessee State Library & Archives of the 11 May 1901 issue of The Athens Post

This county furnished to both sides many volunteers between 1860-'5 for the great civil war. In fact, practically all the male population of sound mind and body saw active service in the field. Five full companies were enlisted here and organized for the Confederacy. The 1st was mustered in during April 1861 and became part of the 3rd Tennessee Infantry, afterwards known as Vaughn's Regiment, commanded by John C. Vaughn who was made general before the war closed and commanded a brigade of cavalry. He was second to none in personal courage and ranked only second to Forrest, Morgan, and Wheeler as a cavalry officer. He was the father of Mrs. William M. Nixon now of Atlanta. His company was raised by David Cobb, an old and wealthy planter of Consauga Valley. The second company was raised by Willie Lowery, a young lawyer with two other young lawyers as its lieutenants, Frank Hale and W. L. Tink, and took into its rank and file the sons of some of our best citizens. The company did gallant service and suffered great loss. It was enlisted in May 1861.

Capt. John A. Gouldy raised the first company of cavalry that left the county. It was well officered with the most gallant boys in the line, mounted on native East Tennessee horses which, by the way, proved the most valuable cavalry horses in the service. Gen. Lane, who was a large stock raiser, furnished most of the mounts and the company was named the "Lane Guards" and bore that legend on a beautiful banner made and presented by the ladies of Athens. Capt. Jno. R. Neal, William Lafferty, and Henry Dill also took companies into service for the South and many others joined companies raised elsewhere.

At least a thousand men were enlisted from this county for the Confederacy out of which there are perhaps 75 survivors still living here. Among the best known are: James A. Reagan, now our county chairman; Lewis Reagan, who lost a leg while in action; John Lusk, in the furniture business here; Joseph Cobb, a man of 80 yet hale and hearty; James Cobb, N. B. Dunn, J. P. and P. H. George, Rev. W. M. Payne, James Payne, D. C. Payne, E. W. Carlock, Isaac Denton, Jno. Wilkins, James Bradford, R. G. and Doc Snider, George Snider, Benedict Ellis, Lige Benton, John Burnett, and others. The three last having served in former wars and are now receiving a pension. Two, Benton and Ellis, were in the Cherokee Indian War of 1836-'8 and Burnett for service in the Mexican War.

The county suffered severely during the war as it was alternatively held by the Union and Confederate armies. The fact that our people were divided in sentiment served as a pretixt to both armies, and numerous raiding parties were organized which treated our citizens as if they belonged to the "enemies' country."

TWO TENNESSEE FAMILIES who migrated to Southern Illinois -- the Roberds and the Isoms - are featured in The Saga of Southern Illinois, Vol. XXII, No. 3.

Jesse Roberds, born 11 Dec 1820 in Wayne County's Friendship community, was among the 13 children of John Osborn Roberds and Nancy Jane Stroud. They came to Tennessee from Rutherford Co., N.C., and settled in Wayne ca. 1819. Jesse married Rhoda A. "Betsy" Gallegly (b. 1820 in Wayne) in about 1840 and they moved to Union Co., Ill., the next year. Rhoda died in 1849, leaving four children: William Thomas, Nancy Elizabeth, John Simpson, and Zachariah Taylor Roberds. Jesse then married her older sister, Elizabeth Truelove, a widow who also had four children. Jesse and Elizabeth had two children (Lenora and Artimita Roberds) before he enlisted in the Illinois Volunteer Infantry of the Union Army in 1861. He was promoted to captain after the Siege of Vicksburg. An inscription on his tombstone describes him as "one of the heroes who ran the blockade at Vicksburg, Miss., 1863." The family moved to Howell, Mo., in 1881 and Elizabeth died there in 1888. Jesse later married Mary Sells and they lived out their lives on the family farm where he died 28 Jan 1906.

Jasper P. "Dick" Isom, born in McMinn Co., Tenn., grew up in Meigs County. In 1963, a Union Army recruiting officer came to McMinn searching for recruits. He agreed to list Dick as older than he actually was so that he could enlist. Dick saw action in several major battles, was wounded, and taken prisoner by Gen. Nathan B. Forrest's men. Discharged in August 1865, he returned home where he met and married Adeline Agnes Fore on his 21st birthday. They lived on a farm in Tennessee for 18 years before moving to Jefferson Co., Illinois. Isom helped establish the Sesser (Ill.) State Bank and was its president for many years. Dick died 20 Jan 1931 and Agnes died 14 Apr 1932. They had 11 children: William Bolen, John Franklin, James Daniel, Mary Agnes Eliza, Oakey Lona, Anna Jane, Arizona, Ida Mae, Allie Minnie, Mack, and Benjamin Harrison Isom.

WHATEVER BECAME OF Samuel and Betsy (Pully) Shipman? That query's posed in Our Heritage (Vol. 36, No. 3), published by the San Antonio Genealogical & Historical Society. Samuel was born in Tennessee about 1810, and Betsy in North Carolina about 1808. Their parents' names are unknown. Samuel and Betsy were married in Hardeman County on 23 Nov 1825, and by 1830 were in Henderson County. By 1840 they had moved to Hot Springs, Ark., and then lived in Montgomery Co., Ark., until 1860 when they moved to Belton, Texas. The census of that year is the last record present-day descendants can find for the Shipmans. Some say the family was separated during the Civil War and was never together again

Samuel and Betsy's children were: (1) Amanda b. ca 1836 in Tenn., believed married to Bushrad Withers in Bell Co., Tex., in 1859; (2) Sarah Elizabeth b. in 1838 in Tenn., married William M. Babb in Red River Co., Tex., in 1855; (3) Mary Ann b. in 1842 in Arkansas, married J. Marion Kiser in Bell Co., Tex., in 1860; (4) Nancy b. in Ark. in 1844, may have married J. D. Smith in Bell Co., Tex., in 1866; (5) Robert Edward P. Taylor, b. in Montgomery Co., Ark., in 1847, m. Sarah Elizabeth Kiser ca. 1872, (6) James Edward b. in Montgomery Co., Ark., in 1850, m. A PROJECT AIMED AT tracing the geographic origins of the first 1,000 individuals who bought public land from the federal land office at Springfield, Mo., between 1835 and 1839 has turned up an interesting genealogical problem involving ving a Tennesseean named Samuel M. Scroggins who was appointed a surveyor by the Greene Co., Mo., court in 1833. It seems there were two Samuel Scroggins. One was Samuel Mills Scroggins who was recorded as head of a household in Monroe Co., Tenn., in the 1830 census. The other was Samuel Scroggins who lived in Fentress Co., Tenn., during the 1820's - 1850's. How two certified genealogists went about distinguishing between the two makes for an instructive article in the National Genealogical Society Quarterly, Vol. 83, No. 4.

COULD DOLLY PARTON'S ancestors been in Tennessee at the time of the 1850 census? The only Partons listed in her home county of Sevier were E. W. and Caroline and who knows? They could have been Dolly's ancestors. The Partin Family Archives in its Vol. 2, Issue 4 reports finding 109 Partin/Partons in the Volunteer State in 1850. Almost half of those (51 to be exact) resided in Franklin County. Thirteen lived in Cannon County 12 in Giles, nine in Knox, and smaller numbers in Wilson, Maury, Marion, Davidson, Bradley, Carroll, Gibson, Greene, Hancock, Lincoln, Rutherford, and Shelby counties.

THE TENNESSEE LAD chosen by Gen. Robert E. Lee to carry his surrender message to Gen. Grant died in Memphis on 24 June 1935. William Joseph Rainey was only 19 when he served as Lee's messenger, and was one of six known Confederate survivors in Shelby County by the time he died at age 89. Rainey's story is told in an obituary reprinted in Rainey Times (Vol. 14), which is published annually in Sulphur Springs, Texas.

Born in Lewisburg, Tenn., Rainey lived in Chattanooga and Lebanon briefly after the war and then settled in Dyersburg where he lived more than 25 years. He moved to Memphis about four years before his death. Rainey was survived by his wife, Effie Johnson (b. 23 Oct 1879, d. 4 Jul 1960), a son Clifford of Waukesha, Wis.; and three daughters, Mrs. Cordia Cook, Mrs. Thelma Davis, and Miss Willie Dell Rainey, all of Memphis.

NOAH VINEYARD was a night watchman who patroled Chattanooga in the pre-Civil War days when the city was just a sleepy little village. A plasterer by trade, he was born in Virginia ca. 1815 and many of his family migrated to Grainger Co., Tenn., according to The Chattanooga Free Press which runs a genealogical feature every Sunday. Vineyard and his wife Caroline, who was born in Georgia ca. 1832, had a son, Winfield S. and two daughters, Margaret and Emma.

During Vineyard's stint as village patroler, a man named Stoneman shot Frank Wisdom at a dance. Wisdom died about a week later. Stoneman claimed Vineyard was present when the shooting occurred and ordered him to do it. Consequently, murder charges were brought against Vineyard who was tried and acquitted. When the dead man's brother, A. J. Wisdom, a Confederate soldier, was taken prisoner at Nashville, Vineyard agreed to serve as his substitute. He was with Co. A, 4th Tennessee Cavalry, and Co. D, 37th Tennessee. Vineyard was captured near Chickamauga on 15 Sep 1863, and that was the last anyone heard of him until several decades later, when his few remaining relatives learned he had died in a Union prison in New York on 21 Oct 1863. Vineyard's only surviving child, Margaret, married Hiram Fitzgerald in 1879, and lived in Chattanooga until she died in 1923.

THE BABB BROTHERS -- Valentine and William "Kelly" -- were brought up in Greene and Hawkins counties, Tenn., but migrated with their families to the Mid-West in 1850. Traveling in a wagon with a five-horse team, they settled in Greene Co., Iowa. Valentine was married to Lydia Crumley of Tennessee and they had five children. After Lydia died in 1857, Valentine married Abigail Bennett and they had seven children. He was a justice of the peace and assessor for many years. Kelly Babb, on a trip to Des Moines for supplies, was caught in a prairie snow storm and when found was almost frozen to death. He contracted pneumonia and died at 29, leaving his wife Hannah.

They had two children who both died young. Kelly's widow gave some of his land for the Methodist Church and cemetery and, according to the Babb Family Association News & Notes, was buried there in a coffin formed from a hollow cottonwood tree log.

TENNESSEANS who attended Roanoke College in Salem, Va., in 1876-77 are among those listed in The Genie, Shreveport, La., Vol. 30, No. 2. Graduating with a B.A. on 21 June 1876 were J. Wythe Grosecloge, Kingsport, and Oscar P. Moore, Saulsbury. Undergraduates included: Seniors - L.F. Smith, Washington Co.; Juniors - Joseph A. Brown, Blountville; Charles H. Jack, Newport; Sophomores - Julius D. Raht, Cleveland; Freshmen - Carl A. Raht, McMinn Co.; Select Class - W. H. Lake, Memphis; and Thomas J. Murray - Newport.

The same issue of The Genie contains Ritchey family history submitted by Willena Veretta Richey (Mrs. Herman Weiland) of Bossier City, La., whose great-grandfather, Robert Russell Ritchey, was a Cumberland Presbyterian minister in Tennessee's White, Jackson, and Putnam counties. Veretta's Ahnentafel chart traces her fam-ily through 11 generations. (Her husband's chart, in the same issues, goes through 25.)

DESCENDANTS of Tennessee-born Sidney Cromwell Swift are traced through six generations in Kentucky Family Records, Volume 20. Sidney, born in 1819, married Martha Patricia Farris, who was born in Tennessee in 1820. Both died in Butler Co., Ky., dates unknown. The couple had 12 children, and lineage is traced through Sidney, Cromwell Swift, Jr., born in 1848.

FIVE TENNESSEANS are listed among student applicants to the St. Louis Training School for Nurses in the late 1800's and early 1900's, reports the St. Louis Genealogical Society Quarterly (Vol. XXIX, No. 1, Spring 1996, p. 23-26). They were:

- Sue R. Jordan, Memphis, b. Yazoo Co., Miss., on 13 May 1861(?), applied 7 Sept 1895
- Ida L. Heacker b. Tate Spring, Tenn., in 1880, applied 27 Feb 1905
- Jennie L. Murphy, Estill Springs, Tenn., b. Sidney, O., in Jan 1865, applied 10 Jul 1888
- Johanne Thomsen, Memphis, b. in Denmark on 24 Dec 1870, applied 2 Apr 1895
- Jennie Vaught, St. Louis, b. in Nashville, Tenn., on 26 May 1880, applied 11 Aug 1910

LINCOLN CO., TENN., became the home of Joseph and Mary (Green) McClusky, Jr.., in 1821 when they migrated there from South Carolina. The McClusky family chart appears in Chickasaw Times Past (Vol. XIV, No. 3), published by the Chickasaw County Historical & Genealogical Society, Houston, Miss. Joseph, a Revolutionary War soldier, was born in 1756 in Abbeville District, S.C., and Mary was born ca. 1764 in South Carolina. They married 17 Nov 1781 in 96 District and were the parents of 10 children, all born in South Carolina. Joseph died in Lincoln County 25 Feb 1837 and Mary died 19 Nov 1845.

EIGHT TENNESSEANS moved to the Show-Me State and subscribed to the 1878 Franklin County Atlas, according to the Missouri State Genealogical Association Journal (Vol. XVI, No. 1) published in Columbia. The transplanted Vols and the dates of their arrival in Franklin County were: W. C. Perkins, photographer, 1869; M. C. Steele, steamboatman and farmer, 1845; Mrs. B. Black 1871; James F. Kerr, furniture dealer, 1851; Rufus Mosely, farmer, 1834; J. A. Wright, East Tennessee farmer, 1840; Mrs. B. Garrison, Knox County farmer, 1859; and J. W. Morrow, farmer and mechanic, 1844.

THE GRAVE OF Tennesseean John Young has been located in the Davenport Family Burial Grounds at San Antonio, according to The Yellow- ed Pages (Vol. XXVI, No. 1, 1996, p. 40), published by the Southeast Texas Genealogical & Historical Society, Beaumont. Young, who was born 13 Feb 1795 in Knox Co., Tenn., died 16 May 1879.

The same issue of the Texas quarterly includes ancestor charts that list some Tennesseeans. Francis Marion Webb, born in Humboldt, Tenn., in 1865, died 11 May 1958 in Port Arthur, Texas. His son, William Thomas Webb, born 26 March 1889 in Newport, Ark., died in Port Arthur on 2 January 1972. Another Tennesseean Robert Lee White, born 4 Feb 1831 in Memphis, died 3 Feb 1909 in Hubble, Ky. He married in March 1855 Mary Crisp Bright who died 14 Oct 1930 in Ponca City, Oklahoma.

THE FIRST SETTLERS in the present limits of Greene Co., Ill., were Tennesseeans Daniel Allen and his sons, Daniel, Jr., John, and James, reports the Bulletin of the Genealogical Society of Old Tryon Co., N.C., in its May issue. They migrated to Illinois in the autumn of 1815, along with the Harriford brothers -- James and Paul -- also of Tennessee. The Allens settled there permanently, but the Harrifords moved on to Chariton Co., Missouri. The information in included in an article about Daniel Allen's Revolutionary War pension application. Drafted as a militia man, Daniel served under Gen. Charles McDowell of Burke Co., North Carolina.

FROM GILES CO., Tenn., to Tuolumne Co., Calif., via Marshall Co., Miss., was the route taken by Tryon Milton Yancey. Born in Pulaski on 23 Sep 1826, he moved as a child to Mississippi where he trained to be a printer. He served in the Mexican War, and in 1851 went west to seek gold. He married Rosa Baley Crowell, a native of Montana, on 12 Sep 1860 and they had five children. Over the years, Yancey worked as a printer and later served as Tuolumne County sheriff. He died 12 Jan 1898, according to Golden Roots of the Mother Lode, Vol. 16, No. 1.

Editor, Ansearchin' News: I have been researching the Campbell County branch of the Lay family, and have quite a bit of information that I am more than willing to share. At the same time I have been researching the Lay family, I also have been researching the Gibson family of Campbell County. That material also is in my possession and can be shared. If I can help someone else, I would consider it an honor since so many people have helped me. Simply let me know. - Loretta A. Lay, 6801 Connell Rd., Yale, MI 48097, phone (810) 387-2438.

Editor, Ansearchin' News: In the Spring 1996 issue, Page 25, is an item about Matilda Jane Blakemore Tullis' Bible in Harrison Co., Texas. I thought it would be of interest to your readers that her father, Edward Douglas Blakemore, died in Shelby Co. and is listed in the printed probate records (Vol. 38, No. 3, p. 132). He was the brother of Albert G. Blakemore who married in Shelby Co. as his third wife, Salina Bettis, and went to Prairie Co., Ark. Wesley Blakemore, who was guardian to Matilda and her sister, Ann Elisa, is another brother. He and his wife Kitty (Neely) returned to Sumner Co. The estate of her Aunt Matilda's husband John Hart also is in Shelby probate records. Rueben, whose wife Betsy Bentley died, and George W. Blakemore also were among Shelby residents in the 1850 census. Rueben and Matilda went to Washington Co., Ark., where a brother, Lee Cage Blakemore, had settler earlier. The above named were children of Thomas and Sally Douglas Blakemore of Sumner Co. (his will was filed there in 1832) and are the grandchildren of Capt. John Blackamore and his first wife, Ann Tomlin. Capt. John's will was filed in Davidson Co. in 1803. He came to Middle Tennessee with the Donelson flotilla. Would love to know others in the group that went to Harrison Co., Texas. After all, Matilda Jane would have been 22 years old in 1854, and it is not likely she traveled alone. - Margie Brown, 3005 Phyllmar Place, Oakton, VA 22124.

Prizes Offered For Family Histories, Genealogies

The Lake Havasu (Ariz.) Genealogical Society is sponsoring a genealogy and family history book contest to commemorate the 25th anniversary of the London Bridge in America.

Cash prizes totaling $1,000 will be awarded the top eight winners. Entries must have been published in English since 10 Oct 1971 (the date the transplanted London Bridge opened in the Arizona desert) and must be postmarked before 10 Oct 1996. All books entered become the property of the society for its public library and research center. Contest categories include local, county, and church history, documented family histories, and abstracted materials such as court records, census, and cemetery data. For details, contact Don Foust, 3982 Trotwood Dr., Lake Havasu City, AZ 86406, phone (520) 680-6257.

New Rowan County, N.C. Publication Offered

Land records of early German and Scot-Irish families in the Yadkin Valley can be found in a new publication, Rowan Co., N.C., Deed Abstracts 1786-97, by James W. Lutz. The book contains abstracts of 3,274 deeds in Deed Books 11-14, including more than 5000 indexed names.

Rowan County in 1788 included the present counties of Davie and Davidson, and deeds abstracted in this volume are in those three counties as well as some grants in the present state of Tennessee. The book, priced at $39 postpaid, can be ordered from the author at 404 W. Rice St., Landis, NC 28088-1605. Also available is a set of six 24x36" blue line maps, Early Landowners of Rowan Co., NC, showing property lines of 1200 of the earliest land owners. The set sells for $34 postpaid.

Book Details History Of Quarterman Family

The history of the Quarterman family of Liberty County, Ga., traces ancestors and descendants of John Quarterman, Sr., who died in 1765 and is said to be buried under the oldest oak tree in Midway Cemetery. The earliest ancestor found to date was Robert Quarterman (d. 1710) of Dorchester, Berkeley Co., S.C. Most of that community is said to have moved as a body to Midway starting in 1752. For further information, contact Elsie Quarterman, 1313 Belmont Park Ct., Nashville, TN 37215 (615) 269-6991.

Postal History Parallels Events In Life of Nation

U.S. POSTAL SERVICE

By Henry Hudson 275 Fawn Lake Drive Millington, TN 38053-6803

(From a talk to the Tennessee Genealogical Society)

The history of our nation is full of postal history that parallels government, territories, statehood, wars of independence, and population migrations. Most people think Ben Franklin hatched the golden egg. Far from it. People had always reduced communication to paper -- sending letters, messages, and dispatches to others far and near. The first evidence of our organized postal history was the Colonial Postal Service created 5 Nov 1639 by the Massachusetts General Court for handling overseas letters between Boston and England. It was operated out of the home of Richard Fairbanks in Boston. On 1 Jan 1673, the first intercolonial postal service was established for Massachusetts, Connecticut, and New York. In 1692 the British Crown granted a patent to Thomas Neale of England for a postal service in all of North America. He estab-lished a postal service that operated from New Hampshire to the James River in Virginia. By 1707 the Crown repurchased the patent and operated the Postal Service until it was closed by the Revolution. (Benjamin Franklin was assistant deputy postmaster for the Crown from 1755 to 1774.) The year 1774 marks the American Continental Congress and Confederation Period when William Goddard of Baltimore organized a Constitutional Post with money donated by the Friends of Freedom. The following year -- on 26 July 1775 -- the Second Continental Congress passed a Postal Act and appointed Ben Franklin as postmaster general. Depending on who occupied what, the British and U. S. post offices operated simultaneously through the Revolution until 1783 when the Treaty of Peace was signed.

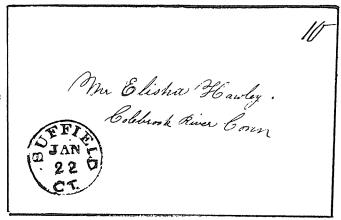

The first postage stamps for the U. S. were issued in 1847. One was a five-cent brown stamp bearing the likeness of Benjamin Franklin, and the other was a ten-cent black stamp featuring a sketch of George Washington. There weren't enough of them to go around, however, and so stamps as we know them were not required until 1 Jan 1856.

From the earliest days of our nation through 1855, mail could be sent without stamps. These items came to be known as "stampless covers." During the stampless period, postage could be prepaid by the sender or collected from the addressee. The same rate applied for both until 1851.

A typical cover bore three postal markings:

- The town of origin plus the date, month, and state
- The rate marking
- The word "PAID" meaning postage had been prepaid or "FREE" indicating the person mailing the stampless cover had franking privileges. If neither of these words appeared on the stampless cover, postage was to be collected on delivery.

This stampless cover, postmarked from Suffield, Conn., was mailed by a student to his father, with a postage fee of 10 cents to be collected on delivery.

The most common form of the stampless cover was a folded letter sheet. Other forms were wrappers or bundles, circulars, and envelopes. The earliest known usage of an envelope was in July 1836 when H. L. Ellsworth, commissioner of patents, used his free frank to send out envelopes containing brochures about the patent law. Before 1845, the postage rate was based on the number of sheets in a letter. The use of envelopes resulted in an extra rate charge. After 1845, envelopes were no longer subject to penalty and the door swung open. An envelope machine was patented in the U.S. in 1848, and four years later the government entered into its first contract for envelopes.

The collection of stampless covers has become a fascinating hobby. Some people collect them by certain historic dates -- like the War of 1812, for example. Some collect by states or by territories before statehood. Others collect those that were sent by the franking privilege -- gathering famous signatures that way. And still others collect stampless covers according to the conveyance by which they were sent -- whether by train, steamboat, or pony express. Stampless covers also are classified as inside and outside mail.

Besides the postal history value of stampless covers, the real bonus for collectors is the content. From the content we learn of business transactions health, disease, and sometimes deaths ... news of the period ... the weather, crops, floods ... church issues ... Indian affairs ... military matters, pensions, appointments, movement of troops... and slave matters. Some are even love letters. After reading hundreds of stampless letters, I've learned that:

- -- Times were tough back then -- real tough.
- -- People were after rich, cheap land.
- -- People were chasing the easy dollar.
- -- All government officials were not honest.
- -- People who were separated longed for their loved ones.
- -- Crime, especially the violent variety, made the news.
- -- People were concerned with health care.

Not much has changed, has it?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Recognizing that genealogists would be especially interested in the messages inside some of the stampless covers in his collection, Hudson has provided Ansearchin' News with three examples. For the sake of clarity, punctuation has been added to the first letter --a continuous paragraph, unblemished by periods or commas -- from a Connecticut student, Newton Hawley, to his father Elisha Hawley, Colebrook River, Conn. The original spelling has been retained. The cover, reproduced on Page 141, has a circular postmark of Jan 22, Suffield, Ct.)

Suffield Institution, Jan 22

Dear Parent: I suppose that you have for some time past been looking with a degree of anxiety for a letter from your absent son and, to (be) sure, I suppose that I ought to have written you before but the time has flew away as if borne upon pinions of an eagle and it is now almost February before I was hardly aware that the present month was hardly ushered into existance and this I must acknowledge is one great reason why I have postponed writing so long. I received a letter from Mr. Marvin a short time since and he informs me that you desire me to write soon which I should now have done if I had not received his letter and I now most affectionately inform you that I am enjoying good health, which I have ever since my absence and it is with the most pleasing sensations that I received intelligence from Mr. Marvin that you are all enjoying it also. The present term of school will end on the 19th of February, therefore I shall be ready to go home on the 20th. prhapps as Mr. Elmore is coming after his son you could get him to carry me also, all our load will consist of ourselves and each other, if not, perhaps Mr. Marvin could arrange his busines so as to come down at that time and he carry me. I mention this because I suppose you do not like (to) leave home. As for money to pay for board, I cannot tell how much it will take as there is no means of ascertaining untill the end of the term besides paying for some tuition, rent, &tc. I have 5 dollars left besides some silver. I am sorry, very sorry to be such a bill of expense but I think I can see clearly the mean(s) of getting it back next winter if I am prospered with health. A short time ago we had a little frracus one evening. Mr. Shailer went to the room of a Mr. Williams and knocked, but the door was locked and they would not let him in. He soon found that they were playing cards and without further cerimony he applied one foot lightly against the door and to their astonishment he burst one of the pannels through and saw them arond the table at play. They commenced blowing out lights but he had seen them and it was of no avail. He then expelled one by the name of Palmby but I mus go to my lessons and tell you about it when I come home.

The following letter was addressed to the editor of the Richmond (Va.) Enquirer and the date of 18 Feb 1843 was handwritten on the stampless cover along with Rappa (Rappahannock) Academy. Handwritten postal markings or "manuscript cancellations" were used by postoffices with mail volumes too low to justify the expense of a circular stamp. The name "Col. Gooch" apparently was written above the original address at some later point. The handwriting is different, and appears to have been written with a different pen.

Hastily Yours,

Kappa Academy Feb 18th 1843

Dr. Sir: I see from an advertisement in the Enquirer of the 16th inst. that a gentleman qualified to teach the English language together with Latin and Mathematics, is wanted as a teacher in a private family in the Northern Neck of Virginia, to take charge of from eight to ten boys. A gentleman who can furnish ample testimonials of the qualifications required, also of competency to teach the Greek Language, will be pleased to accept the above named situation for a salary of 250 dollars and board. Communications addressed to F. L. K., Rappahannock Academy, Caroline, Va, will be promptly attended to.

Very Respectly Yours

This stampless cover, addressed to Green D. Moore, Esq., of Oakland, Miss., bore a Memphis postmark of Jan. 23, 1845. The postmark was made with a circular date stamp provided to the Memphis postoffice by the U.S. postoffice department. The message it contained is probably one of the most polite collection letters ever penned.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan'y 21st 1845

Green D. Moore Esq Dear Sir

Your Letter of the 11th Inst was Recieved during the absence of the writer of this -- and having full confidence in your making every nessary effort to collect the money by the time your note falls due. We shall be satisfied with what you can at that time pay whether it is only one half or the whole. We are fully aware of the difficulty attending collections this year and are ourselves the sufferers by it. We shall want every dollar you can possibly Raise for us but if you fall Short there will be no difficulty about the Balance as we will Renew for a short time. If you should have an opportunity, wish you would send us even before it is due what you can for us. We shall be pleased to see you here and hope we can make an other Bill with you when you come up.

If you wish anything attended to in this place command us.

Very Respectfully Yours

F. H. Cossitt

P.S. We Shall be very closely pressed for money next month and if you can send us a part of the amount please do so.

John Lumpkin's Descendants Sought

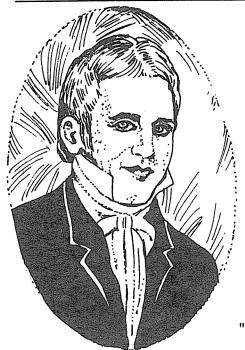

(Developed from information submitted by Ella R. Emery, 1219 Hester Rd., Memphis, TN 38116)

An effort is being made to locate living relatives of John Wesley Lumpkin of Memphis, Tenn., who died in Seguin, Tex., on 29 Dec 1854 and is buried there in Riverside Cemetery. The old cemetery, which was Seguin's first burying ground, is to be commemorated with a State Historical Marker in ceremonies October 13, and sponsors of the event would like to invite relatives to attend. Lumpkin's grave is covered with a slab of white marble that was fashioned by an artisan in Memphis and inscribed as follows:

His life was gentle, and the elements so mixed in him That Nature might stand up and say: "This was a man!" Stranger, read and remember his dying words: I die in peace.'

A story about the old cemetery and the Lumpkin grave appeared in the Seguin Bulletin in 1918. An early resident, interviewed by the reporter, recalled the bleak December day in 1854 when the westbound mail coach pulled up in front of the old Magnolia Hotel, and the driver announced he had a sick passenger on board. "Major Calvert, the proprietor, at once took charge of the sick man, faithfully attended to his every want, and the dying stranger's pillow was smoothed by as kindly a family as ever lived. Thus died and was buried John W. Lumpkin of Memphis, Tenn."

John was born 13 Jan 1814 in Oglethorpe Co., Ga., the sixth of eight children born to William Lumpkin (1780-1840) and Elizabeth Ragan, who was the daughter of Jonathan Ragan and Susannah Faucett Battle. The family lived in Greene Co., Ga., until November 1837 when they migrated to Mississippi and established a plantation called "Athenia" in Marshall County near Holly Springs. Earlier that year on 23 March, John had married Anna E. Jameson (1818-1854). They had two children who lived to maturity: (1)William David Lumpkin (1839-1914) who married Emma Sarah Anderson, and (2) Anna Jameson Lumpkin who married Houston Thomas Force. Gravestones at "Athenia" show two other children died in infancy and a third at age two. It is not certain when John and his family moved to Memphis. However, Shelby County estate records show he owned land in Tunica Co., Miss., held stock in the Memphis-Germantown plank road, and had a Shelby County patent on the Steven & Kidder shingle machine. Lumpkin descendants seeking additional information should contact Elizabeth Smith Burden, 202 Sheffield Place, San Antonio, TX 78213-2627, telephone (210) 344-0023.

Here's A Fellow Who Lived In 2 States At Once

Guiness' Book of World Records would have been interested in Col. James Raulston (1778-1844), a man who lived in Tennessee and Alabama simultaneously. By walking from one room to another in his log cabin, Raulston could shift from being a Tennesseean to an Alabamian. He thought he was putting down his roots in Tennessee when he built his cabin, but an 1817 boundary survey showed it straddled the state line in the area that became Marion Co., Tenn., and Jackson Co., Ala. Raulston made the most of the situation, first becoming active in Tennessee politics and later being elected to the Alabama legislature -- all while living in the same home. Today's historian might ponder the burning question: who would he have been for -- the Vols or the Crimson Tide?

BOOK REVIEWS

PRODUCING A QUALITY FAMILY HISTORY by Patricia Law Hatcher. 1996. Paperback, 6x9", 288 pages, including resource list and index. $15.95 plus $3.50 shipping from Ancestry Incorporated, P.O. Box 476, Salt Lake City, UT 84110-0476, phone 1-800-531-1790.

Here's a book designed to guide you through just about every step in the process of creating and pub-lishing your own family history -- from your research raw data to the printing of your finished book. The author -- a certified genealogist and author of numerous books and articles -- covers everything from the obvious (organizing the book, writing the narrative, and incorporating photos and other illustrations) to the less obvious (documenting your research thoroughly and accurately, establishing a visually appealing design, and placing your ancestors in context). She even provides information on how to market and ship your finished product. The author cites the trend away from publishing straight genealogy to publishing family histories that go beyond names and dates and place people in context. She also notes an apparent trend away from idealizing ancestors. "My-ancestor-was-more-important-than-your-ancestor is out," she says. "New bragging rights may be my-ancestor-was-harder-to-find-than-your-ancestor." That could be a welcome relief.

WAKE COUNTY, N.C., COURT MINUTES 1808-1811 by Weynette Parks Haun. 1995. Stapled soft cover, 8x11", 162 pages, full-name index, female index, and miscellaneous index. $27.00 postpaid from Weynette Parks Haun, North Carolina Research at Home, 243 Argonne Dr., Durham, NC 27704-1423.

This is the seventh volume in a valuable series that reveals the numerous and varied transactions that came before the quarterly sessions of county courts. The proving of deeds and wills, appointment of workers on specific roads and bridges, court-ordered divisions of land among heirs, assessment of fines for bastardy, sales of property to satisfy garnishments, etc. -- all provide a bonanza of information for researchers. In a petition by one Matthew Shaw to renounce his allegiance to the King of Great Britain and become a U.S. citizen, for instance, can be found his age, the names and ages of his wife and four of their children, the fam-ily's birthplace (Scotland) and the fact that they migrated to Raleigh, N.C., with the intention of settling there. An unusual and helpful feature is the author's provision of three separate indexes -- a full-name index, a miscellaneous index, and a female index alphabetized by given names and followed by a list of surnames.

SURRY COUNTY, VA., COURT RECORDS 1741-1745, BOOK VIII by Weynette Parks Haun. 1995. Stapled soft cover, 8x11"; 144 pages; full-name, female, and miscellaneous indexes. $27.00 postpaid from Weynette P. Haun, North Carolina Research at Home, 243 Argonne Dr., Durham, NC 27704-1423

In this continuing series on early county court records, the author follows her practice of providing a wealth of information for researchers while going the extra mile to facilitate locating data on specific people, places, and things. Not only does Book VIII contain the three indexes provided in the previous book, but it also includes the original indexes of the 1741-44 Surry County Order Book and the 1744-48 Surry County Court Records, plus a separate list of persons appointed road overseers. The book con-tains references to residents of the bordering 'burned record' counties of Prince George, Charles City, and James City, and includes some 45 references to Albemarle Parish, many of which are the church wardens' orders for binding out orphans.

IMMIGRANT JOHN KELSO OF PENNSYLVANIA AND VIRGINIA, His Ancestors & Descendants by Douglas Kelso, Jr. 1995. Hardcover, 8x11", 117 pages plus family charts, full-name index. $45.00 plus $3.00 P&H. Order from the author at 4227 Grandview, Memphis, TN 38117, phone (901) 682-4469.

This family history is a compilation of significant findings by many Kelso researchers, beginning with the family in southern Scotland, proceeding to immigrant John's settling in Pennsylvania and Virginia, and continuing until the death of his grandchildren. It includes lineage charts beginning with the fourth generation (in America), and a chronology of significant findings and dates that might be useful to other researchers of Kelso lines. A blank page follows each chapter to allow recording of future findings and corrections of importance. The book is replete with maps, photographs (many in color), and the family crest. The author tags his book, "First Edition," and expresses the hope that it will encourage new research and analysis. He even lists counties in Pennsylvania, Virginia, and West Virginia which he says need priority research attention. It's a handsome book, and one which Kelso descendants should prize highly.

GENEALOGICAL & LOCAL HISTORY BOOKS IN PRINT, 5th Edition, Family History Volume by Marian Hoffman. 1996. Paperback, 5-1/2 x 8-1/2", 477 pages, indexed. $28.50 postpaid from Gen-ealogical Publishing Co., 1001 N. Calvert, Baltimore MD 21202-3897, phone 1-800-296-6687.

The first new edition in 10 years, this bibliographical reference book identifies 4,634 family histories and compiled genealogies now available and in print. Histories are alphabetically arranged by family name, and many of the entries indicate the other principal surnames covered in the work. All cited appear in the index where they are keyed to book number. A separate section attempts to list all multi-family compendia in print. These typically cover family histories on a regional, county, or statewide basis. Vendors, organized both alphabetically and numerically, are listed separately in the front of the book. The volume is a practical and convenient aid for researchers at all levels of experience.

FIGHTING CHARLES REESE, HIS LIFE & HIS FAMILY by Parker Chastaine Sams. 1996. Soft cover, 8x11", 96 pages including appendices, full-name index. $12.50 postpaid from the author at 1301 Fox Street, Findlay, OH 45840.

Charles Reese's Revolutionary War pension application, which the author discovered in the James K. Polk papers, was used as a starting point for this book which traces the North Carolinian's experiences in the Revolution and the War of 1812. The book surveys Reese's life in the Cherokee nation after the Revolution and later on the Tennessee frontier, listing both his Cherokee and white families and including ties to the Kimes and Desha families. In the late 1780's Reese migrated to Sumner Co., Tenn., where he married Mary Desha. They moved on to Maury County and then to Lincoln County, where he died in 1830. Reese joined Gen. Andrew Jackson's expedition against the Creeks during the War of 1812, fighting in the same battle with his Cherokee son.

McNAIRY COUNTY, TENN., CEMETERIES (SOUTHEAST) 1824-1984 by Albert Brown. Softcover, 8x11", 78 pages. $25.00 postpaid. Order from author at Rt. 1, Box 7, Buena Vista Rd., Bethel Springs, TN 38315, phone (901) 934-7349.

This revision of a 1984 listing of McNairy County cemeteries east of Highway 45 and south of Highway 64, contains numerous small family cemeteries that have been found since the earlier publication. About two-thirds of the county's 18,000 tombstones are located in the eastern part of the county, which was the first part of McNairy that was settled and is therefore the site of the oldest cemeteries. The book gives the name, location, and map number of each cemetery, and lists tombstone information alphabetically by surname.

GREENE CO., TENN., DEED ABSTRACTS 1785-1810 by Joyce Martin Murray. 1996. Softcover, 8 x10", 199 pages including full-name, location, and slave indexes. $28.50 postpaid from author at 2921Daniel, Dallas, TX 75205. (Texas residents add 8.25% tax)

Anyone whose ancestors migrated to or through Greene Co., Tenn., Greene Co., N.C., the state of Franklin, Washington Co., Tenn., or Greene Co. in the Territory South of the Ohio will find this a valuable reference book. At various times, deeds in the book refer to Greene County as one of the above. The author explains that Greene County was formed by North Carolina in April 1783 from part of the Washington District which had been created six years earlier. In 1792, part of Greene went into Knox County and part into the present Jefferson County. Deeds in this book, abstracted from Volumes 2, 4, 6, 7, and 8, contain a wealth of information concerning the places from which the settlers came and the names of their neighbors and relatives.

THE LLOYD (LOYD) FAMILIES OF PUTNAM CO., MISSOURI by Gary G. Lloyd. 1996. Softcover, 8x10", 288 pages including full-name index. $20.00 from author at 7 Center Rd., Kirksville, MO 63501-2762.

Some 1,443 descendants of Jacob B. and Nancy (Bell) Lloyd/Loyd are identified in this book which was compiled by the author "as a hobby and a labor of love" over the last 22 years. Jacob, the son of James Loyd, was born in Wayne Co., Ky., in 1808. His wife Nancy, the daughter of Jeremiah Bell, was born in the state in the same year. The couple married in Wayne County in 1831, moved to Bradley Co., Tenn., after 1840, and then migrated to Putnam Co., Mo., about 1852. They had seven children. The book, printed on acid-free paper, contains some 30 pages of photos, plus maps, charts, clippings, and narratives. The author plans to publish a second book in 1997 that will focus on earlier generations of the Lloyd family, going back to Thomas Lloyd who appears in 1782 Washington Co., Va., records before moving on to Greene Co., Tenn.

CIVIL WAR LETTERS, VOL. 2 EAST TENNESSEE published by Steven A. Birchfield. 1996. Softcover, 8x10", 141 pages, surname index. $12.50 postpaid from publisher at 3201 Hardmoney Rd., Paducah, KY 42003. (Kentucky residents add 6% tax.)

The letters in this book are photocopies of the original typed copies prepared by the WPA historical records survey transcription unit in 1939. Written by both Confederate and Federal soldiers representing all walks of life and penned by sons to mothers, fathers to daughters, and soldiers to sweethearts, the letters preserve the human side of the conflict -- telling in an intimate way what those who were living in the midst of the war felt and thought. Each letters is prefaced with the name, address, and relationship of the writer and recipient; the place where the letter was written; the present owner's name and address; and a descriptive that frequently gives additional details about the principals involved.

PIERRE LeGRAND IN VIRGINIA 1700 by Louis Everett LeGrand. 1995. Hardcover, 7x 10-3/16", 360 pages including full name index, on acid-free paper. $38.00 postpaid from author at 8100 Colebrook Rd., Richmond, VA 23227-1613.

This volume, consisting of pure genealogy without narrative, lists the children of the French Huguenot Pierre LeGrand and his wife, Judith Vril, who arrived in Virginia on 20 September 1700 aboard the "Peter & Anthony." Emphasis is on the descendants of their son, Jean Pierre LeGrand, and his wife, Jane Magdalen Michaux whose six children are covered in separate chapters with lineage in many cases extending to the current generation. Full generations are shown, with birth, marriage, and death information. Research included on-location examination of public records in the areas of the U.S. where the LeGrands were known to have migrated, and information from living descendants, making this a valuable reference for family members and genealogists who wish to study this complex family history.

OBITUARY

Let the living improve their time by reflecting on the certainty of death. May it not be forgotten that on the evening of the fifth inst. died, at his own house in Maury County, the Rev. Jesse Brown in the 28th year of his age. Mr. Brown was born of respectable parents (his father yet living), was a native of Virginia and lived in Halifax County. While a child, he was noticed for his orderly deportment; became professor of religion while quite young, perhaps at the age of 15 and shortly after became a member of the baptist church In the year 1805 he removed his residence to the state of Tennessee where his genteel and christian deportment recommended him to the respect of his acquaintances ... About two or three years be-fre his death, he engaged in the ministry with tolerable promising success. On the 13th of July 1814, he was married to the amiable Milly Williams (daughter of Oliver Williams, esq.) who loses at his death one of the most affectionate and agreeable of husbands.... His last illness continued about four weeks before his dissolution. Few men lived more respected and died more lamented.- Nashville Clarion & Tenn. State Gazette, Nov. 15, 1814

Genealogical Glossary

What Is the Meaning of All This?

- 1. entailed or fee tail = an estate which must be passed down lineally (to children and their children)
- 2. filial portion = a person's inherited share of a parent's estate
- 3. jointure = property that is to become the wife's at her husband's death
- 4. perishable estate = part of an estate that will be affected by the passage of time (usually a crop)
- 5. personalty/personality = personal property
- 6. curtesy = the right a husband has in certain inherited property of his wife, especially real estate, after her death
- 7. glebe = a portion of land assigned to a parish church clergyman

- 12. executor = person named in a will to carry out its provisions (executrix is the feminine form)
- 13. administrator = person appointed by the court to settle the estate of a deceased person who died without leaving a valid will (administratrix is the feminine form)
- 14. collateral ancestor = one not in direct line of ascent but of the same ancestral stock (a brother or sister of a direct ancestor, for instance)
- 15. escheat = reverting of property to the state upon the death of an owner without heirs
- 16. probate = the process of proving a will
- 17. nuncupative will = an oral or unwritten will declared before witnesses by the testator in his last illness
- 18. holographic will = one entirely in the handwriting of the testator
- 19. kindred = persons related by blood
- 20. infant = a person not of legal age; a minor
- 21. legacy = a gift by will
- 22. bequest = usually a gift of real estate by will; also a legacy
- 23. primogeniture = the right of inheritance by the eldest son
- 24. assignee = a person to whom the court signs over some right, privilege, or property
- 25. decedent = deceased person

Missing PUZZIE Pieces

Looking for Lathrops?

A notice by William Lathrop seeking the whereabouts of his parents, Lyons and Hannah Lathrop, ran in The Atheneum, a weekly published in Clarksville, Tenn., on 8 March 1820.

According to the notice, William's parents were living at Norwich Landing in New London County, Conn., in 1793 when he signed on as a seaman with the merchant ship General Hamilton, commanded by Capt. Racker. The ship sailed from New York on the 1st day of June, 1798. Two years later, on the 25th day of August, it was captured by an Algerine frigate and young Lathrop was sold as a slave.

"I remained in that situation till the year 1815 when I was released by Com. Decater and landed in New York on the 20th of November 1815," William writes.

From that date on, he tried in vain to find his parents who were said to have removed to Cincinnati, Ohio, and from there to Tennessee where they supposedly were still residing.

"Any information relative to them will be thankfully received by me at Nashville where I shall remain for some time," Lathrop said.

In an editor's note following the notice, it was stated that Lathrop had "a flesh mark on the right side of his face resembling wine." The editor added: "Printers throughout the Western country and particularly in Tennessee will please insert the above notice as the advertiser is poor and can remunerate them only with his thanks."

Did You Lose A Graham?

The following notice appeared in the September 15, 1814, issue of the Nashville Clarion & Tennessee State Gazette:

"Died at my house, a young man by name of John Graham. He had a pair of saddle-bags, a coat, shirt, pantaloons and vest, unmade, and some money which his friends can have by coming forward and paying the charges. He mentioned before his death that he had a brother living in Giles County, Tenn., by name of Isaac Graham."

A Female Soldier

The following article appeared in Jackson, Miss., on 30 Dec 1862 and was reproduced in the Athens (Tenn.) Post in its issue of 23 Jan 1863.)

"Among the strange, heroic, and self-sacrificing acts of woman in this struggle for our independence, we have heard of none which exceeds the bravery displayed and hardships endured by Mrs. Amy Clarke -- [who] volunteered with her husband as a private, fought through the battles of Shiloh where Mr. Clarke was killed -- she performing the rites of burial with her own hands. She then continued with Bragg's Army in Kentucky, fighting in the ranks as a common soldier until she was twice wounded, once in the ankle and then in the breast, when she fell prisoner into the hands of the Yankees. Her sex was discovered by the Federals and she was regularly paroled as a prisoner of war but they did not permit her to return until she had donned female apparel. Mrs. Clarke was in our city on Sunday last en route for Bragg's command."

Did William Lathrop locate his parents in Tennessee? Did Isaac Graham come to claim his brother's body and give him a decent burial? What became of Amy Clarke? If you can help us write a happy ending to these puzzlers or add any information to the above, please drop us a line. We'd be happy to hear from you! -The Editor.

QUESTIONS CANSWERS

Q. Were any births and deaths registered in Tennessee before 1908?

A. Yes. Births and deaths were registered in Memphis from 1848, in Chattanooga from 1872, in Nashville from 1874, and in Knoxville from 1883. For these records, contact Tennessee State Library & Archives (TSLA), 403 Seventh Ave. N., Nashville, TN 37243-0312, phone (615) 741-2764. TSLA has statewide records from 1908-1912 on microfilm. State residents are allowed a free record search and non-residents are charged $5. (Both pay a $2 copy fee if the record is found.) The law requiring birth and death registrations expired in 1913 and no records were kept for that year. Births from 1914 to the present are available from the Office of Vital Records (OVR), State Department of Health, 3rd Floor, Tennessee Towers, Nashville, TN 37247-0350, phone (615) 741-1763. Search fees are $10 for long-form copies and $5 for short-form copies (for births from 1949 on). Death records for 1914-44 are available from TSLA, with state residents being allowed a free search, and non-residents paying $5 for a 3-year search period. (Copy fee is $2.) OVR has death records from 1945 on, with a $5 search fee. When requesting a record search, always give the person's name, and the year and county where the birth or death occurred.

TENNESSEE GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY presents ...

This is your opportunity to become a proud parent of much-needed genealogical source material!

We have many genealogy books and periodicals which need binding. A contribution of $8 will pay for binding of a set of periodicals, and a contribution of $7 will enable the rebinding of a book.
